POWERS BILL IS PUT AWAY

Measure to Elect County Superintendents by a Popular Vote Lost.

STEUBEN MAN LED A STRONG FIGHT

Legislature Arranges for Election of Senator Next Tuesday.

Indianapolis, Jan. 13.—The most spirited debate so far in the present session of the Indiana legislature served to enliven the senate this morning and was over the divided committee report on the bill to elect county superintendents of schools by popular vote. The bill had been referred to the committee on elections and when it was reported out Senators Traylor, Jackson, Hauck, Moore, Clark, Lamont, White and Parks recommended that it be indefinitely postponed. Senators Clark and Ratts submitted a minority report, approving the measure.

Powers Leads Fight.

The clash was over the adoption of the minority report, Senator Powers, who introduced the bill, leading the fray. He pictured the old red schoolhouse as a thing of the past, much to his regret and to the detriment of the rising generation, and that the mother by reason of official encroachment and the winding of much red tape had all but lost control of her children. Senator Hauck spoke against the minority report, as did Senator Jackson. Senator Grube went bravely to its defense.

Senator Tilden, who bears distinctions as an educator, vigorously opposed the adoption of the minority report. Senator Ratts defended his stand and had as a strong supporter Senator Beal.

Bill Is Lost.

The vote showed the rejection of the minority report, 20 to 28, and the majority report, indefinitely to postpone the measure, was adopted by consent.

The first bill to pass either house of the Indiana legislature outside the appropriation bill was the measure presented by Senator E. B. Stotsenburg, of New Albany, providing for the appointment of town marshals and trustees in case of vacancy. Under the existing law a special law is necessary. The Stotsenburg bill was passed in the senate without a dissenting vote.

Both houses convened at 10 o'clock and adjourned shortly before noon until two o'clock Monday afternoon. In the upper branch 25 bills were introduced; in the lower twenty.

To Elect a Senator.

The senate passed a resolution looking toward the ballot to be taken on United States senator next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Lieutenant Governor Hall named Senators Beal and Brady to confer with Representatives McMullen and Wise, who compose the house committee and arrange to have the members of the house present at the time the ballot is taken. According to present plans the members of the senate will be guests of the house when the latter votes on the senatorship in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. The senate speakers Tuesday will be Shively, McCarthy, Harlan, Grube, Kistler, Carleton and Proctor. The house speakers at its session will be Clore, McGinnis, Merriman, Keegan, Sunkel and McMullen. The joint session for the election of senator will be held Wednesday in the senate at noon. There will be no caucus for the election of a senator it is said.

More Pay for Jurors.

Senator Geo. W. Curtis, of Mount Vernon, in the senate today offered a measure providing for $3 a day instead of $1 a day for "struck" jurors. The senator from Gibson and Posey also offered a bill removing the $10,000 limitation for damages collectable for death by accident. Senator J. M. Farlow, of Frankton and four other senators propose to legalize certain acts of county auditors. The measure is for the relief of a condition existing under the workings of the public accounting act whereby the state examiners have been charging against the auditors moneys expended on orders drawn by the auditor upon warrants authorized by the county commissioners. The bills seek to have the auditors relieved from responsibility for the validity of these warrants, wherein the county has received the benefit of the money expended.

Greenwell Has Bill.

Aside from Senator Farlow are Senators C. T. Atkin, of Carlisle; Frank Greenwell, of Huntertown; E. B. Stotsenburg, of New Albany, and Samuel D. Royse, of Terre Haute. The demand, it is said, for legislation along this line is evidenced in the number of bills introduced, all of which cover practically the same ground.

Senator Robert E. Proctor, of Elkhart, proposed a measure limiting the powers of corporations doing business in Indiana to those held by Indiana corporations. The bill further provides that such corporations doing business in Indiana shall have no more power here than they have in their own state.

Measures in the House.

In the house of representatives Wm. Hufford, of Delaware county, presented a measure which requires that persons making application for loan of school funds shall furnish

CROWDS RESORT TO SCHENK TAIAL

Plans for Taking of Testimony Have Been Put a Bit Awry.

THE DAY'S THRILLER

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 13.—The Schenk case is a more or less continuation of plans of yesterday that time would not permit to be completed. When Miss Alma Evans, the nurse that attended John O. Schenk through the illness that is alleged to have been caused by his wife, Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, administering poison, was called to testify yesterday, it had not been expected that she would be the first witness of the day. Therefore, when her testimony was once started it crowded the plans of the prosecution and those witnesses who had been called and were unable to be reached were not informed to appear again today.

Insanity Gossip Groundless.

The counsel for the defense as well as the prosecution were much chagrined and not a little annoyed this morning over false reports that have been sent out concerning the conduct of the trial. There were many rumors last night that the trial was to be stopped and a commission in lunacy appointed to take up the case of Mrs. Schenk, the accused in the case. Counsel for both sides were most emphatic this morning in denying that any such move had been contemplated.

Prosecuting Attorney Handlen, seemingly to offset any expectations of the defense, asserted this morning that within the next two days a witness will be called by the state who will show that Mrs. Schenk purchased quantities of arsenic and sugar of lead shortly before the return of her husband from Europe.

Crowd Gathers Early.

The crowd began to gather early and before daylight a number of men and women were in line waiting for the doors of the court house to open. When the trial was resumed the room was full and crowds were standing in the streets. The strictest rules regarding attendance are still being observed. Dr. O. W. Burdatts, Schenk's dentist, was the first witness called today. Dr. Burdatts testified he examined Schenk's teeth after Schenk became ill. At first he believed the discoloration was caused by a diseased condition of the gums, but later he concluded something he did not understand was wrong with him.

The First Sensation.

The first real sensational testimony appeared at the afternoon session when Daniel Z. Phillips, a clerk, was called to the stand. Phillips declared he had frequently been invited by Mrs. Schenk to accompany her in her automobile and they had met by appointment at out of the way places, taking long trips together. Refreshments were always in the car. He admitted that after they had been driven out into the country the chauffeur would leave the car in charge of Mrs. Schenk and return at a given signal. Phillips said Mrs. Schenk had frequently given him expensive presents. He said he had often talked with Mrs. Schenk about securing a divorce from her husband, John O. Schenk.

FIVE VICTIMS OF EXPLOSION.

No More Bodies Are Found in Ruins at Connellsville, Pa.

Connellsville, Pa., Jan. 13.—When firemen early today ceased searching the ruins of the McCrory store, destroyed by an explosion and fire here yesterday, they decided that the five bodies they had discovered were all the debris contained. Two bodies were identified by signet rings on their fleshless fingers and one by the shoes she wore. Another is supposed to be the body of Pearl Thomas, of West Overton. She was in the store with her aunt when the explosion occurred and has not been seen since.

The fifth victim is believed to be that of an Italian customer, as a pocketbook containing a number of foreign coins was found imbedded in the blackened flesh.

Mrs. Edward Miller is in the hospital with her legs broken and many severe burns.

NOT AFRAID OF THE HOODOO.

Young Couple Defied Superstition and Took Out License.

Friday is generally regarded as a hoodoo day for marriage licenses and very few are issued on that day under any conditions, but a couple has been found to defy the double jinks of Friday and the thirteenth in Grover C. Jacobs, 22 and a barber, and Marie M. Mason, 17. They took out the only marriage license issued during the day.

CURTISS TO TEACH ARMY MEN.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The war department has accepted the Glenn Curtiss offer to instruct a number of army officers in the operation of aeroplanes and has instructed General Bliss, commander of the department of California to detail as many officers as he can spare for the instruction.

CARRIE NATION VERY ILL.

Eureka Springs, Ark., Jan. 13.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, the pioneer Kansas saloon smasher, suffered a nervous collapse in her home here today. Her condition was such that Mrs. Nation expressed the fear that her career as temperance lecturer and the active enemy of intoxicants is ended.

C. D. Q. BOYS AFTER HIM.

Crownpoint, Ind., Jan. 13.—Declaring that wireless telegraph operators were trying to wring the secrets of Masonry from him, Fred Mitchell today lies near death after an attempt to [illegible] in the jail here. He cut his bedding into strips to make a rope. Mitchell is believed to be insane.

SCHOOL LAW HAS PLEASED

NEW MEASURES IN THE LEGISLATURE

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 13.—Senator Fred W. Beal, of Terre Haute, who introduced at the last session of the legislature the bill providing for the popular election of school trustees in cities of the second class, has an amendment to propose to the act. The provisions of the act he says, have worked out to the great satisfaction of his constituents and they desire to have the law apply to them and therefore must have it revised to conform to the figures of the last census. Under the workings of the present act, Terre Haute has two democratic members, two republicans and one woman, all of whom are elected by the people under the Beal act.

To Amend Accounting Act.

Senator Will A. Yarling, of Shelbyville, expects to introduce today his bill for the amendment of the public accounting act. As explained by him the measure will affect the way in which the reports of the examiners on public officials charged with malfeasance nonfeasance or misfeasance shall be treated and is designed to give the official charged an opportunity to be heard and to explain errors or to make restitution in case of a shortage without the result of the examination of the deputy being made public. Senator W. N. Hauck, of Lawrenceburg, will introduce a bill legalizing sales from delinquency in cities of the fifth class in which the tax levies have been made from duplicates prepared by the city clerk instead of the county officials.

Bitter Fight in Prospect.

What promises to be one of the bitter court law fights of the present session is the contest between Gary and Hammond, in Lake county, for superior courts. Hammond, under a bill introduced by Senator Frank N. Gavit, of Whiting, asks that their court be given two additional judges to handle the business of the county, while Gary, a city of 16,000 people is urging a separate court for their own needs. The Gary measure was introduced by Senator Beal, who is also chairman of the judiciary committee to which the Gavit measure was referred. Senator Beal is in favor of a compromise of the situation which will permit a superior court for Gary and give one additional judge to Hammond.

Will Consider Child Labor Laws.

Representative John Masselink, of Terre Haute, chairman of the labor committee in the house, conferred with the senate members of the labor committee relative to the public hearing which had been arranged on the two child labor laws to be held in the house chamber Monday evening.

Senator Carlton has charge of these bills in the senate and will co-operate with the house committee in the meeting.

The State Federation of Labor will defend the measures as they hope to see them pass and it is said the telegraph interests in the state will oppose them. One of the measures has to do with the messenger service and the other is a general bill covering all kinds of remunerative labor with the exception of home work and farm work.

MORMON HEAD DIES IN ALASKA.

Dr. E. G. Cannon, Prominent Physician of Nome, Has Passed Away.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 13.—The news of the death of Dr. E. G. Cannon, one of the most prominent physicians of Nome, Alaska, and head of the Mormon church in the Seward Peninsula district, was received in a letter from Nome yesterday. Dr. Cannon, who was 90 years old, died in November, after the last boat had sailed out of Bering sea, and the letter containing announcement of his death was sent out over the trail.

Dr. Cannon maintained a Mormon tabernacle which he moved on wheels from one settlement to another. This traveling church was one of the sights of the north.

COMMANDER RICHARDSON ILL.

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 13.—Announcement has been made here that on account of continued illness, James D. Richardson, of Washington, grand commander of the Scottish Rite order, has been granted an indefinite leave of absence from his official duties and George F. Moore, grand prior of the supreme council, has been appointed acting commander.

YOUNG DESPERADOES FREE.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 13.—Armed with revolvers Charles and Henry Roberts, 17 and 18 years old, respectively, who escaped from the Tennessee industrial school on the Murfreesboro park last night, held at bay a posse of more than a hundred men made up of officials of the school, police and citizens. After firing a score or more of shots in the direction of the posse, the boys slipped into the woods and disappeared.

GOVERNOR TAKES WALKS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 13.—Governor Marshall completely forgets the cares of the executive office of Indiana for an hour at noon each day and spends the time in the open air, either walking or riding in an automobile, no matter how much the weatherman may harass him. Close application to his work after a hard campaign, threatened the governor's health and he takes his noon outings on the advice of his physician.

BAR HONORS THE MEMORY OF DEAD

Lawyers Pay Tribute to Judge Walpole G. Colerick in Meeting.

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

There was a big gathering in the superior court room this morning when President W. F. Breen called the meeting of the Allen County Bar association to order and announced that the members had assembled to pay their last tribute to the memory of Judge Walpole G. Colerick.

In opening the session Mr. Breen took occasion to say that the dead man was a great lawyer and a man who represented the highest type of citizenship. He dwelt largely upon the kindly spirit that he entertained for his brother lawyers and his unfailing devotion to his clients.

In presenting the resolutions adopted by the committee appointed yesterday Judge S. L. Morris eulogized the deceased member of the bar and said that after all is over and the body has been consigned to earth all that is said of him will be good.

Attorney James B. Harper stated that Judge Colerick was a man of pure mind and pure in his method of living and that in all his acquaintance with him he had never heard him utter a profane word.

William N. Ballou spoke of his unfailing kindness to the younger members of the bar and he was followed by Hon. P. A. Randall, who paid a glowing tribute. The resolutions are as follows:

Hon. Walpole G. Colerick, a member of the Allen County bar, died in this city in the afternoon of January 11th, 1911.

His life and work were such that while his death is deeply mourned, the memory will ever remain that he was a staunch friend, a most useful citizen, a profound and successful lawyer and an honest man, whose every effort in life was a success.

Judge Colerick was born in our city and secured his education in our public schools. He came from a family of lawyers and was by nature adapted to his chosen profession, the law. He was an indefatigable student and devoted all his energies to the mastering of the science of the law. He knew the value of friendship and intermingling with his fellow citizens, by his warm and sympathetic nature, made all his friends. With his studious habits and close attention to his cases and by his engaging and courteous manners he early became not only one of the most successful, but one of the most formidable adversaries in litigation. In all his work Judge Colerick was sincere and earnest and early in his professional life was recognized as one of the coming lawyers of the state. At the time of his death he stood at the head of the profession.

Judge Colerick in politics was an ardent democrat. His party recognized in him a leader and sent him twice to congress as its representative. Judge Colerick filled the duties of congressman with the same success that he practiced his profession and ever bearing in mind the interests of his own city, he secured the passage of a law providing for the holding of terms of the federal court in this city and the construction of a government building for the holding of the court. His successful work in congress brought Judge Colerick more prominently before the people of the state of Indiana and without solicitation on his part he was appointed judge of the supreme court of Indiana. The decisions rendered by Judge Colerick, while on the bench, were notable for their clearness and accuracy and will ever stand as evidences of his high ability as a lawyer and just judge.

Judge Colerick had one of the broadest and warmest hearts. He quickly and generously recognized merit in others. His daily life was always highly honorable. His home was an ideal one, filled with his love and loyalty and always secured by his ever constant care and kindness.

In recognition of the noble life and lofty character of Judge Colerick, we submit this tribute to be spread on record in our courts and request that a copy be delivered to his family.

Respectfully submitted,
SAMUEL M. HENCH,
WALTER OLDS,
OWEN N. HEATON,
W. J. VESEY,
SAMUEL L. MORRIS.

Funeral Services Tomorrow.

The funeral service for Judge Colerick will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 320 East Berry street, and Rev. Dr. Samuel Wagenhals, of Trinity Lutheran church, will officite, while E. F. Yarnelle and Mrs. H. G. Keegan will sing the musical service.

The pall-bearers are from the ranks of the Fort Wayne bar and were selected by Judge Colerick himself on the day of his removal to the hospital to undergo the surgical operation. The list includes J. M. Barrett, Judge R. K. Erwin, Judge Walter Olds, S. L. Morris, Elmer Leonard and W. P. Breen. Members of the bar will attend the funeral service in a body, and the interment will occur at Lindenwood.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Judson C. Clements, of Georgia, was elected chairman of the interstate commerce commission to succeed Chairman Knapp at a meeting held today. Mr. Clements is the senior member of the commission and is a democrat.

TELLS TALE OF OCTOPUS

Its Story of Oppression is Worst in All Our History, Says Kellogg.

MILBURN DEFENDS STANDARD OIL CO.

Government Side of Case is Presented to Supreme Court of U. S.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The government's side of the story of the Standard Oil corporation with all the charges of sins laid at its doors was placed today in part before the supreme court of the United States. After a few words of summary by John G. Milburn for the Standard, Frank B. Kellogg, special assistant to the attorney general, began an address to the court in an effort to show that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey should be dissolved in accordance with the decree entered by the federal court in Missouri. He was expected to conclude next Monday.

Milburn Defends Standard.

Mr. Milburn, in closing, said:

"Damned for anything but praised for nothing was the way the Standard Oil has been treated by the government. In this record, covering forty years of business, everything the Standard has ever done is related. It has done some things in strenuous times that it should not have done, that was human. It has done nothing that goes to the issue here.

"The evil of the affirmance of this decree, it is needless for me to say would be monstrous. It is fortunate that the case is left in the hands of a court that listens to reason and never hears the voice of passion and prejudice."

Worst in All History.

"I have listened with admiration," said Mr. Kellogg, "to the charming story of growth and centralization of this benevolent institution. It was told as only a great advocate could tell it. It was a story of how the standard Oil was the result of natural growth guided by the master mind of Mr. Rockefeller. I mean to tell to the court the cold facts and I say on my oath as a member of this bar, and I regard that highly, that the equal of this record in oppression is not to be found in the whole history of this country."

Then he added that the Standard was "born and reared in oppression and hangs today over the country like a threatening cloud."

"Mr. Milburn does not know this record as I do," he said. "He did not sit for 187 weary days as those twenty thousand pages of record were being written."

PONTIFICAL REQUIEM MASS.

Anniversary Services for Bishop Rademacher at Cathedral.

Rt. Rev. Herman Joseph Alerding, D. D., bishop of the diocese of Fort Wayne, will celebrate solemn pontifical requiem high mass at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. The prelate will be assisted by the Cathedral clergy. The mass will mark the eleventh anniversary of the death of Rt. Rev. Joseph Rademacher, D. D., third bishop of the diocese. It will be attended not only by the members of the Cathedral parish but from all of the parishes in the city.

FIRE IN PENSION BUILDING.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Thousands of records and documents in pension cases were destroyed early this morning in a fire which originated in the office of the United States pension agency in the pension building here. The origin of the fire is unknown and the damage cannot be estimated until after a thorough investigation.

GEORGE GOULD RE-ELECTED.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 13.—At the nual meeting of the stockholders of the New Orleans Pacific Railroad company held here yesterday George J. Gould was re-elected president; W. F. Braggins, vice president, and W. R. Elliott, secretary of the company for the year 1911.

ROOSEVELT RESERVOIR FILLING.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 13.—The water in the Roosevelt reservoir rose sixteen feet during the twenty-four hours ending Thursday, storing 27,000 acre feet. It is rising still more rapidly today and a better showing is expected tomorrow.

FOURTEEN KILLED IN RIOTS.

Bombay, Jan. 13.—Fourteen persons were killed and 24 others wounded during yesterday's rioting. As usual the occasion of the Muharram festival brought about a clash between Sunnites and the Shiahs and troops called out to restore order fired several volleys into the mob.

FIRE FOLLOWS AN EXPLOSION

NAPHTHA IS IGNITED

Fire followed an explosion of naphtha on the top floor of the Masonic Temple shortly after 7 o'clock this morning, in which a decorator named Sauer had his hands painfully burned and damage amounting to several hundreds of dollars was inflicted upon the quarters of Fort Wayne commandery, Knights Templar. Only prompt action of workmen engaged in the building and of the chemical engine company which made a quick response to the alarm, prevented serious damage if not the destruction of the building.

Decorators have been at work for some weeks engaged in refinishing the rooms, and the explosion this morning was due to the fact that fumes of naphtha for use in the pigments caught fire from a match, either stepped upon by the painter or which was being used by him. The room in which it occurred was a small one, and the explosion was severe enough to blow two doors off their hinges. New decorations in the room were ruined, woodwork of the door casings were burned away and a hole was burned in the floor, but the blaze was gotten under control by the chemical engine company.

CRIMP IN SEATTLE BANK.

Alaska Bank Which Went Broke is Carried for Overdraft of $141,000.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 13.—That the Washington-Alaska bank of Fairbanks, which suspended last week, had an overdraft of $141,000 with a Seattle bank was brought out in the United States district court as a result of the seizure at Crodova, Alaska, Wednesday of $101,000 in gold and currency shipped by the defunct Alaska bank to the local institution. The money seized had been shipped to Seattle to partially cover the overdraft.

The failure of the Washington-Alaska bank is attributed indirectly to the large demands put upon it as a result of the stampede to the Iditarod, Kuskokwim and other camps in the north, following its consolidation with another bank. The Washington-Alaska bank had deposits in excess of $2,500,000.

MAKES BIG GAIN FOR YEAR 1910

Fort Wayne Postoffice Receipts Show Increase of $55,599.

ADVANCE IS STEADY

Tabulations just completed show that the total receipts of the Fort Wayne postoffice for the year 1910 were $55,599 higher than the aggregate for 1909. The total for the year's business was $332,550.89 as against $276,951.75 for 1909.

Quarter by quarter, also, the gain is pronounced over the receipts for the previous year. For the first quarter of 1910 the figures were $76,206.23 as against $64,912.90 for the first three months of 1909. In the second quarter the aggregate was $80,552.88 compared with $71,102.25 for the same period in 1909. The third quarter, from July 1 to Sept. 30, produced revenues of $77,070.85 to offset $62,301.95 as the showing of the previous year, and for the three months which closed 1910 the receipts were $98,412.93.

The gain of 1909 over 1908 was $35,000, so that the growth of the past year far exceeds any previous growth of similar time. It makes it certain, also, that the office will advance one grade in rank, which will increase the salary of the postmaster and the assistant postmaster for the fiscal year which begins April 1 next.

GREAT SNOW STORM RAGES.

Heaviest Fall On Record in Parts of Nevada.

Reno, Nev., Jan. 13.—The present snow storm is the heaviest within memory of this district. After a steady fall of thirty-six hours there was a record depth of two feet on the level late last night. A depth of twelve feet is reported at Truckee and six feet at Immigrant gap, California. Passenger trains are being held at Truckee, California, and Sparks, Nev.

FIRE IN INDIANA PRISON.

Michigan City, Ind., Jan. 13.—Fire of unknown origin early today caused several thousand dollars damage at the state prison here. The flames were confined to the top floor of a three-story brick structure occupied by the Marion Leather Goods company, of Chicago, makers of women's purses and handbags.

BUNDLE OF KALE DISAPPEARS.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 13.—Two thousand dollars in currency sent from the City National Bank of Evansville to the Tennyson National bank for payment on tobacco crops, has disappeared, and Thomas W. Basham, Southern Express agent and Southern railway agent at Tennyson is missing.

Express company detectives are working on the case and Basham' sexpress and railroad accounts are now in the hands of auditors.

FOUR KILLED; MANY INJURED

Pullman on New York Central Train Telescoped from the Rear.

WAS AT STATION IN BATAVIA, N. Y.

Dead Badly Mangled and of the Injured Several Will Die.

Batavia, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Four passengers, probably asleep in their berths aboard the New York Central's Boston & Buffalo west-bound express, were ground to death, as that train stood at the Batavia station early today. Two others were fatally injured and the condition of eight is more or less serious.

The engine of train 23, the New York Central's western express, struck the rear of train 49, the Boston & Buffalo express, with such force that the rear car of train 49, a sleeper, crumbled before the impact. The engine was reduced to wreckage, beneath which the four dead were found. The mutilation of their bodies was so extensive and live steam played such havoc, that early identification was impossible.

The Dead.

The bodies are:

Man 50 years old, probably Cassius C. Perrin, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Masonic charm found beneath his body in his crushed berth.

Man 35, ring marked "F. J. S."

Man 40, nude, no description possible.

The Injured.

Monte C. Fiscus, lawyer, Indianapolis.

F. G. Vanvolkenburg, Maple street, Fultonville, N. Y.; probably will die.

James O. Moore, lawyer, Mutual Life building, Buffalo.

H. C. Cole, address unknown.

Robert McFarland, Detroit; fatally.

Mrs. John Shaw, No. 28 Thorn street, Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. Catherine Higgins and son Thomas, Stoughton, Mass.

Edward Dobson, Blackburn, England; painfully.

The plunge of the engine continued through the sleeping car into the rear of a day coach ahead. Nearly all the injured, however, were in the sleeper.

Asleep When Shock Came.

Nearly all the passengers were asleep when the shock came. There were desperate struggles with debris and many of the passengers not reported among the injured at the hospitals were completely exhausted with their efforts to extricate themselves from the shattered car and to help the injured. Scalding jets of escaping steam from the punctured boiler of the locomotive added to the torture of those disabled and delayed the work of rescue. Officials and uninjured passengers of both trains used every available means of removing wreckage from those pinioned beneath and by noon it was thought no more dead or injured would be found.

Signals Disregarded.

Disregard of signals by the engineer of the western express caused the wreck, according to a statement issued by Supt. Everitt, of the Western division of the New York Central.

"From such preliminary investigation as I have been able to make J. B. Lydell, of Buffalo, engineer on train No. 23, which ran into train No. 49 (Boston & Buffalo express), was responsible for the accident in that he had disobeyed signals. Mr. Lydell has been in the employ of this railroad for forty years and has been an engineman since 1888 with a perfect record."

FARMERS MAKE PROTEST.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The state department is being flooded with letters from farmers and others all over the United States protesting against the action of the German government in levying a tax on potash, largely consumed as a fertilizer in America. Many of the letters are written, but a great number are in printed form, indicating that they are the result of the work of the bureaus which have been established to create public sentiment in this matter.

AFFIDAVIT MAKER DEAD.

New York, Jan. 13.—Robert Caldwell, the great American affidavit maker, who figured as the principal witness in the famous Druce will case in England, is dead here after an illness of more than two years. He died in the insane asylum on Ward's island.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Forecast for Indiana: Rain or snow and colder tonight and Saturday.

Lower Michigan: Snow, much colder tonight; Saturday generally fair and colder; moderate northeast winds.

Ohio: Snow in north, rain or snow in south portion tonight and Saturday; colder; moderate north winds.

Illinois: Rain in southern, snow or rain in northern portion tonight and Saturday.

CHIEF NIPS ONE SCANDAL IN BUD

Cigar Counter Clerk is Forced to Admit That He Told Lie.

MAKES AN AFFIDAVIT

Efforts of a drunken cigar counter clerk named Lloyd Wilson to borrow $2.50 at 2 o'clock this morning laid the foundation for what might have developed into a police scandal if the matter had not been reported to Chief Ben Elliott, who started an investigation that terminated in the signing of an affidavit in which Wilson said he had lied.

Wilson rushed into the office at the Wayne hotel this morning and told Clerk Limecooley that he had just been arrested in a house of ill fame with a young woman and had been compelled to give a policeman $5 for his release. This was communicated to Patrolman Junk and he made a report to the chief.

Detective Sergeants Pappert and Hall were sent out to investigate and returned to headquarters with Wilson, who said he was drunk and that the story he told was untrue. He made an affidavit to this effect and then the chief had a word with him. He told Wilson very plainly that in the light of present conditions the department is having trouble enough with being compelled to rest under charges like he made.

Wilson was allowed to go but in order to make some further investigation with a view of ascertaining where he bought liquor after hours an officer was sent out to get him and lock him up for public intoxication. He stated that he was out drinking and that he wanted the money to buy booze with.

Got Heavy Sentence.

Arthur Keadle was sent to jail for six months and fined $500 in the city court on an assault and battery charge. The crime he committed involved a couple of little boys and was one of the most revolting that had been heard in the court for several years.

Mrs. Bechtol is Held.

Mrs. Eva Bechtol, of 828 West Creighton avenue, thought to be demented, is being held until a commission can pass upon her. For several weeks she has been approaching men on the street, addressing them as Frank Campbell and beseeching them to go home with her. This has embarrassed a number of men, among them a Nickel Plate engineer and a traveling man who stopped at the Wayne hotel.

The woman was divorced several years ago and has a son eight years of age. The little fellow wept as he talked to his mother through the bars this morning and the case presents a pathetic side. She insisted that she is "in her right mind," because she has been able to work and support her boy.

LEWIS STREET RESIDENTS KICK.

Renew Old Complaint Against the Ohio Electric Company's Cars.

There was a renewal before the board of public works last night of the complaint against the manner in which the Ohio Electric company's cars are operated on Lewis street and Member Henry Hilkemann took a hand long enough to say that the great speed at which the cars are compelled is dangerous and that not long ago it shook his coffee pot off his stove. Other residents made the same complaint and the board will probably refer the matter to the board of public safety with orders to arrest motormen who run at a higher rate of speed than the law allows.

A hearing on the assessment roll for paving Home avenue from Fairfield avenue to Broadway was postponed until next Monday afternoon.

Assessment rolls for extending Force street were approved.

A petition for extending Barr street from Dock street to the river was presented and plans and a resolution adopted.

Contractor Derheimer completed the flushing of Harmer street, and certified to the board that the pavement had been finished. Asessment rolls were ordered. Owners have objected to the pavement, claiming that the flushing at this time of the year will not prove satisfactory, and declaring that the brick used were not up to the standard.

DENTIST ENDS HIS LIFE.

L. W. Comstock Made Sure of His Job at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Jan. 13.—L. W. Comstick, formerly a well known dentist, was found dead today in the laboratory of Dr. A. F. Herron, in this city. Comstock had made elaborate preparations t oend his life. He was found lying on a couch, with a towel wrapped around his head and a paper cone, which had been filled with cotton and saturated with chloroform, over his nostrils. The ends of two rubber tubes, which had been connected to gas jets, were inserted under the cone to hasten the work started by the chloroform. To make doubly sure of death, the man had stopped up the crevices around the doors and windows with towels. Comstock had not practiced dentistry for five years and had been separated from his wife for some time. He left a note to the police saying that his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack J. Hinman, would take care of the body.

IDENTIFY MURDERED BOY.

Body Found Near Schenectady Is Claimed and Mother Is Looked for.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13.—The body of the 5-year-old boy found dead in a swamp on the Schenectady river last Tuesday and believed to have been murdered by the forcible administration of carbolic acid was identified by relatives today as that of George Melber, of Schenectady.

The identification was made today by George Melber, a schenectady blacksmith, the boy's grandfather, and Charles S. Smith, of Schenectady, an uncle. On the strength of their theory, the police of Albany and Schenectady are searching for Mrs. Edith Melber, a prepossessing young woman of 27, the dead boy's widowed mother.

KILLS HUSBAND AND SELF.

Newcastle, Pa., Jan. 13.—Thomas Pritchard and his wife are dead at the home of his father, a farmer, residing near here and the crime is laid to the wife. According to the story of the man's mother they had been quarreling during the night and arose early. She was about to leave her room when she heard a pistol shot and her daughter-in-law screamed, "I have shot Tom and I am going to kill myself." Another shot confirmed her cary.

GASKILL PAYS A FINE AND COSTS

Settles Differences With the State for $43 and is Freed.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Burvillus Gaskill closed a rather exciting tilt with the liquor laws of the state when he paid a fine of $25 and costs in the circuit court today and bought his freedom after he had been turned over to the authorities by his bondsman on an appeal from the city court.

He escaped a jail sentence of thirty days by taking the appeal, but there was no disposition to punish him further as his case demonstrated that flagrant violations of the laws bring disaster upon saloonkeepers. He was arrested two or three times before it was finally shown that he sold to children and this put him out of business as the county commissioners declined to give him a renewal of his license. The fine and costs amounted to $43.

Submits His Report.

Recorder Robert E. Kelly today filed with the state statistician his report of business transacted in his office last year. There were 3,717 deeds recorded and the consideration was $7,302,576. There were 2,644 real estate mortgages for $4,051,497 and 544 chattel mortgages for $139,714. The real estate mortgages satisfied numbered 2,463 and the amount paid was $2,265,866. Four hundred and ninety chattel mortgages for $60,945 were satisfied.

Two Divorces Filed.

Berdia Shondell has entered a divorce suit against William Shondell charging infidelity and naming Mrs. Lillian Marks as corespondent. They were married in November, 1894, and have one child 13 years old. F. H. Kleekamp filed the suit.

Alice Marahens charges in her divorce complaint that Henry Marahens beat her, called her vile names and accused her of infidelity. She obtained a restraining order to prevent him from drawing his wages from the Wayne Oil Tank company. Leonard, Rose & Zollars filed the suit.

complete abstract of title to the real estate offered as security and otherwise hedges about the school fund. Nothing daunted, Representative Peter L. Coble, of Dubois county, came back today in his effort to make the German language compulsory in the high schools. The bill was "indefinitely postponed" by the committee on education, according to its report Thursday morning. Mr. Coble has slightly altered his bill for reintorduction, but the German requirement is still there.

Representative Charles F. Stevens, of Princeton, offered a measure providing for the incorporation of manufacturing and mining companies, and companies organized for mechanical, chemical and building purposes.

Gravel Road Bill.

A bill providing that the funds of gravel road construction shall be in the hands of a superintendent and not in the hands of the commissioner was presented by Representative John C. Brannaman, of Brownstown. The measure requires that the superintendent give sufficient bond in each instance. Representative Seidensticker presented the negotiable instrument law recommended by the commission, which is seeking uniform laws for negotiable instruments throughout the state. A bill to make Discovery day a legal holiday was offered by Representative John J. Keegan, of Indianapolis.

Representative Pleasants, of Poseyville, proposed a bill to enable boards of school trustees of incorporated towns and township trustees to build joint schools.

An effort to move Rush county from the sixteenth judicial circuit and make it a part of the fifty-third, was shown in a bill introduced today by Representative Geo. S. Billman, of Shelbyville. A defining of these circuits according to the provisions of the bill would make Shelby county a separate circuit. There is no more gallant man in the house than Representative James W. Hedrick, of Sullivan county.

Woman Suffrage Bill.

Today Mr. Hedrick offered a bill on the request of Mrs. Antoinette Veach, of Sullivan, to amend the constitution so as to permit of equal suffrage.

Mrs. Veach, who is a practicing lawyer at Sullivan, and president of the Sullivan county bar, was a candidate for representative in the late election. She was defeated by Mr. Hedrick. Mrs. Veach was admitted to the bar in 1933 on an appeal to the supreme court fromthe circuit court of Sullivan. She is at the head of what she is pleased to call her own party, and which she has christened the "Political Equality party."

Mrs. Veach declares she is here to lobby for her measure and that she does not know when she will return to Sullivan.

Weekly Wage Bill.

Representative J. Delbert Foor, of Vigo county, today offered a measure requiring corporations to pay wages to employes weekly in cash and prevents the use of script. The bill also is designed to regulate the sale of merchandise by corporations to their employes.

A measure providing for the payment by cities and towns the cost of paving streets and alley intersections out ofthe general fund, the city or town to assess the cost of said intersections against the owners of abutting property and for a block adjacent, where the property is benefited, was introduced today by Representative Charles F. Maas, of Indianapolis.

GOVERNOR'S PARDON RECORD.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 13.—The report of Governor Marshall to the general assembly on paroles, pardons and other such action shows that during the years 1909 and 1910 he pardoned 81 prisoners at the Indiana state prison and paroled 70 from the same institution; pardoned 25 and paroled 108 from the Indiana reformatory; paroled ten from the Indiana woman's prison; commuted three reformatory sentences and five jail sentences; paroled ten and pardoned one from the Indiana girls' school, and paroled two from the Indiana boys' school.

In the majority of cases the pardon or parole was recommended to the governor by the state board of pardons, and in nearly every case in which he acted without recommendation, the prisoner affected by his order was in an advanced stage of tuberculosis or suffering from some other disease. Thirty-one prisoners serving jail sentences were paroled or pardoned within the two years. Forty-four fines were remitted. The total of fines remitted is about $9,500.

G. R. & I. PAY DAY.

The monthly pay days are nearly here again and most of them will come next week. The G. R. & I. pay car will be here next Tuesday, January 17, the first to arrive. The Nickel Plate pay car will be the next to come and the Wabash and the Pennsylvania cars will be along the latter part of the week.

TARIFF BOARD IS FAVORED BY TAFT

President Endorses the Longworth Bill and Will Press It.

TALKS OF COMMISSION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Significant progress was made yesterday in the movement for the creation of a permanent tariff commission. President Taft, in an address at the banquet of the National Tariff Commission association, openly indorsed the Longworth bill, characterizing it "as a conciliatory measure embodying all the important features that are necessary to make the commission effective." Furthermore, earlier in the day he summoned the republican members of the ways and means committee to the white house and urged them to harmonize their differences.

The president renewed his plea for harmony in his address last night, declaring that what he was most anxious to avoid was the failure of tariff commission legislation at the present session because of any difference as to details. He asserted he would not mention "the bill that bears the name of the Ohio congressman" except that it seemed to him "to constitute a very well drawn compromise upon the differences of detail that have existed between the supporters of various measures."

Gives Inquisitorial Powers.

The Longsworth bill referred to by the president, according to the admission of the author is an incorporation of salient features in the Lenroot and the Goode bills of the house and the LaFolette and the Beveridge bills of the senate and provides for inquisitorial powers for the tariff commission as well as the safeguarding of information obtained.

The National Tariff Commission association early yesterday had practically indorsed the Longworth bill in a resolution sent to congress demanding immediate tariff commission legislation and it was in amplification largely of the resolution of the association that President Taft spoke last night.

The association had declared for a tariff commission whose powers and functions should be analogous to the interstate commerce commission.

Many members of the senate and house were present at the banquet and among the speakers were Senators Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Cummins, of Iowa, and Representative Longworth, of Ohio.

Why All Should Be Satisfied.

"You do not desire," said Mr. Taft, "if I understand your present resolutions, that these men should fix tariff rates or recommend rates to be fixed. You desire only that they should furnish the correct information upon which the body constitutionally charged with fixing tariff rates may properly act so that the public may have the truth from the tariff commission, and then advise itself how congress shall have acted with respect to that truthful presentation of premises for its action.

"There are those who oppose the existing tariff and criticise it severely. There are those who uphold it as a fair measure on the whole. Now it seems to me that both may logically and properly support the creation of a commission whose findings, if the former are right, will indicate the necessity for tariff changes; and that the latter may well and consistently support the same commission with the hope and belief that its investigation will show the present tariff is not unjust or unequal in its operations, or, if so, that it is only so in the case of a few schedules.

President Tells His Hopes.

"I am not one of those who expect that the tariff commission is going to reform the whole situation in such a way that we are to receive from them with mathematical certainty the exact difference in the cost of production here and abroad, or other circumstances that are useful in framing a tariff bill. Matters of that kind are necessarily matters not of exact ascertainment, but of judgment and general average.

"But I do hope that if the bill passes the results of the labors of the commission will be such that the congress will have sufficient information to reach a general average of fairness and justice, and that the people will have a reliable means of judging of the correctness of the action of congress.

"Then if congress shall depart from the economic theory of a majority of the people in the action taken upon this reliable information offered, the people will have recourse to the method adopted so often in the past—that of turning out the party in power and putting in a new party to carry out the then prevailing popular theory.

"But it is of the utmost importance that the action both of the congress and of the people shall be taken on reliable evidence. Anything that tends to make that evidence and the conclusions from it fairer and freer from political bias ought to be encouraged.

"I quite agree with this association in favoring a consideration by congress of separate schedules or separate subject matters affected by the tariff, so as to prevent the action upon one schedule from being unduly influenced by promised action upon another. It is impossible to avoid this in a general revision."

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

STRANGLED HIMSELF WITH ROPE AT HOME

Suicide of Dr. W. S. Leiter, Well Known Physician at Claypool —Ill Health the Cause.

Claypool, Ind., Jan. 13.—Dr. W. S. Leiter committed suicide at his home in Claypool on Thursday afternoon and his body was found by his daughter, Mary, at about 2:30 o'clock. He took his life by hanging himself by a rope which he had fastened over the top of a door on the inside of his home. He was left alone for a time during the afternoon and it was then that he committed the deed. His wife was in Warsaw during the day and his children were away from the home.

Dr. Leiter had a very extensive practice and a wide acquaintance throughout Kosclusko county. His devotion to his profession and consequent loss of sleep finally undermined his mentality and about two months ago he suffered a breakdown and was taken to a Fort Wayne sanitarium for treatment. He returned to his home in Claypool about a month ago, but had never fully recovered. His action in taking his own life is attributed to the unbalanced condition of his mind. It is said that on several occasions he made threats of killing himself when the opportunity arrived.

Besides his wife he is survived by three children, Herschel, Mary and Paul, all living at home. Mrs. Leiter did not learn of the suicide until she returned to Claypool.

WAS FOUR SCORE AND TEN.

Death in DeKalb County of John Bemenderfer.

Waterloo, Ind., Jan. 13.— John Bemenderfer, for many years aresident of Waterloo, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nannie Clark, in Smithfield township. Deceased was born in Loudon county, Virginia, Feb. 29, 1820, and was nearly 91 years old. He moved from his natal place to Ohio near Canton. At the age of 35 years he joined the multitude of people who were moving into Indiana, where he settled on land a mile north of Barker chaped. Some forty-six years ago he left active farming and moved to Waterloo, where he purchased a home. On account of his infirmities his wife and himself made their home in late years with ther daughter.

EGGS LOWER IN PRICE.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 13.—The price of eggs in Bluffton is on the toboggan and yesterday made a drop of four cents. The quotation of the dealers today is 28c and 33c, the latter the retail price. The decline has been expected for some time and from indications the price will go even lower. The lower price is due to the light demand for the hen fruit and an increase in the supply.

FOUR MADE SICK BY CABBAGE OR TEA

Had Eaten Boiled Cabbage and Drank Tea Made in Tin Pail —Were Poisoned.

Columbia City, Ind., Jan. 13.—Amos Hoagendobler, his son Jacob and son-in-law Martin Rowland, who reside not far from Big lake, near the Noble county line, were taken suddenly ill Wednesday afternoon, and the latter was unconscious for some time. The trio had assisted Era Geiger during Thursday to do some work, and before leaving for home partook freely of some boiled cabbage and meat, as well as other good things served at the meal. The tea was made in a tin pail, and either the latter or poison from the cabbage, caused all to become very ill, each suffering with cramps of the stomach. Mr. Geiger was also said to be very sick with the same ailment.

Dr. Souder was called to the Hoagendoubler home and after working a couple of hours had the poison discharged from the three stomachs, and all of the patients were resting as well as could be expected on Thursday.

WAS A FORTY-NINER.

Death at Huntington of Hezekiah Kilander.

Huntington, Ind., Jan. 13.—Hezekiah Kilander, long a resident of Huntington, died yesterday at his home, 617 West William street. He was born in Fayette county February 15, 1824, and established a home in Huntington in 1872 soon after his marriage. A number of years he worked as a carpenter on the Wabash. Stricken with partial blindness he was compelled to retire and thereafter lived a quiet life, although he was a familiar figure about the down-town section until the last few years. Surviving are his aged wife and two daughters, Misses Lulu and Dessie, who reside at home.

In 1849 Mr. Kilander got the California gold fever and went west with the hordes of treasure-seekers. His recitals of the hardships of the long trips to and from the west coast in the early days were always interesting.

THE HENS ARE LAYING

And Eggs Will Go Down in Price Says A Big Dealer.

Kendallville, Ind., Jan. 13.—According to a statement of C. C. Beyer, of the Beyer Produce company, eggs are more plentiful at the present than they were in December and on the regular trips about double the number is now being collected by the hucksters, as compared with December. If the weather continues mild for a week longer this supply will be increased as the hens are all laying now and the price will go down.

ACCEPTED RESIGATION.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 13.—The congregation of the Presbyterian church has accepted the resignation of Rev. Spetnagel as pastor. The resignation was made to take effect January 22nd, after which the Rev. Spetnagel will go to South Bend to make his home. That city will be his headquarters during his service as superintendent of the South Bend district of the Anti-Saloon league. A new pastor has not yet been secured.

IN A HUNTINGTON HOTEL

Girl Who It Was Thought Had Suicided Was Found.

Huntington, Ind., Jan. 13.—By an order of the juvenile court of Delaware county, Ohio, Goldie Brush, age fourteen in December, was arrested in this city at the Waterman hotel, formerly the Union House, by Delaware County Detective W. B. Matthews. Wilbur Jackson, a former resident of this county and Wabash, was arrested at Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday night and confessed to a serious charge in his associations with the young girl.

The Brush girl had long been incorrigible and some days ago disappeared from er home. It developed that she had gone off with Jackson, who later sent her to this city with the promise that he would soon join her here. Her folks had thought that she had suicided, as at the time she left home she left a letter intimating that she intended to kill herself, even naming in the letter her pall bearers.

DIED AT HUNTINGTON.

Grant Curtis, Who Was Prominent Man of the City.

Huntington, Ind., Jan. 13.—After an illness since September with dropsy of the heart Grant Curtis died at his home on Gay street Thursday. He had long been identified as one of the prominent men of the city. He was born in Ohio, October 15, 1855, and was over fifty-seven years of age.

He is survived by his wife and one brother in Fort Wayne. Funeral services will be conducted at his home at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Tabernacle Baptist church, Rev. Lindsay will officiate and interment will be in Mt. Hope cemetery.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Widow of Corkwell Man Arrested Accused of Crime.

Portland, Ind., Jan. 13.—Mrs. Fallie Karney, widow of a Corkwell storekeeper, who was murdered last hallowe'en, was arrested late yesterday on a grand jury indictment, charging her with the crime.

Mrs. Karney's story to the police at the time of the killing was that her husband had been kailed to the door of his store by two men on the pretext of buying some tobacco and that they had shot him twice.

IN HOSPITAL HERE.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 13.—Yesterday Chris Bieberich, of Preble, accompanied his daughter, Miss Bertha Bieberich, to Fort Wayne, where Miss Bertha entered the Lutheran hospital for an operation for relief from affection of the appendix and gall bladder. Last July Miss Bertha first became ill and while she recovered to a certain extent, she has not been enjoying good health.

GIVEN DIAMOND PIN AT DINNER

E. L. Craw is Honor Guest at Banquet of Postal Attaches.

ONE HUNDRED THERE

Edward L. Craw, who last month resigned his position as assistant postmaster of Fort Wayne after continuous service of thirteen years, was presented a very handsome diamond-studded Mystic Shrine pin in the course of a banquet given in his honor by officers, clerks and carriers of the Fort Wayne postoffice, as well as the rural mail carriers, Thursday evening. The token of esteem represented the good wishes of all the postoffice attaches.

The banquet was held in the old Commercial club rooms in the Odd Fellows' building, and about one hundred gentlemen were seated at the tables when Postmaster R. R. Hanna as toastmaster started the current of post-grandial eloquence. Shobers' orchestra played for the event, and there were quartet numbers by Messrs. Kendall, Stover, Zellers and Smith, while Smith contributed a cornet solo.

Speakers included T. W. Blair, James Hattery, C. F. Kettler, W. G. Stahl, Henry Geyer, Paul Richter, C. A. Stockbridge and C. M. Chambers, the latter presenting the gift to Mr. Craw on behalf of his associates. All of the speakers referred with regret to the retirement of Mr. Craw from the service and paid him the highest tribute of regard and esteem. The pin came to Mr. Craw wholly as a surprise, and he was so deeply touched by the spirit of the offering that it was with difficulty he spoke a few words in response.

The Patterson-Fletcher Co. store was crowded yesterday. Read their sale "ad." on page five and you will understand.

YARN OF THE LONELY SWIG.

[With apologies.]

[A marine entered a Baltimore saloon, ordered one beer and was arrested after eating thirty-nine frankfurters at the free lunch counter.—News Item.]

'TWAS down in ancient Baltimore, within its mournful "can,"
That I spied alone in a cell of stone
An elderly naval man.
His beard was wagging, his nose was cold,
And waggish, yet cold, was he.
And I heard this wight from the bark recite
In a singular canine key:

"Oh, I am Fido and Tige and Spot,
A poodle with nary a flea,
A vanished Fan and a black and tan,
And a pup with a pedigree!"

* * * * * * *

Then he cussed the place with the artless grace
That is common to every jail,
And, having got rid of a thumping quid,
He told this doggone tale:

"With coin galore I came ashore
From a cruise on the bright blue sea,
In a day it happed I was badly strapped,
Which has often occurred to me.
For a week I'd neither wittles nor drink,
Till a-hungry I did feel,
But I got a hunch that a good free lunch
Would make an astounding meal.

"Then up to the bar I sails full tilt
And charters a schooner fine,
Which I steers its way to the side buffet
And started right in to dine.
Now, all they had—oh, it made me sad!—
Was frankfurters piping hot,
But I scents the fog like a bold sea dog,
And I anchors on the spot.

"First Fido went, and old Tige came next,
A delicate dish they made,
And a big black hair in the kettle there
A poodleish past betrayed.
The black and tan was a trifle raw,
Fan's tail made it thirty-four,
But the first of the pup gets the barkeep up,
And he boots me through the door.

"That's why I'm Fido and Tige and Spot,
A poodle with nary a flea,
A vanished Fan and a black and tan,
And a pup with a pedigree."

—New York Evening Sun.

Explaining the Telegraph.

"Tell me," said the cannibal king to the Scotsman who had unwittingly strayed into his land—"tell me before I eat you of the wondrous new things you have in your native country—of the carts that go without horses and the letters that go without postmen—telegrams, I think you call them. What are telegrams?"

Sandy ran his fingers through his upright hair.

"It's a deefficult thing to explain," he answered. "You see"—

"Tell me!" roared the king.

Sandy made a dash for it.

"Well," he began hurriedly "it's like this: If you could stretch my terrier pup frae Oban to Tobermory, an' if you was to slap its head in Oban an' it waggit its tail in Tobermory, an' if I was to tread on its tail in Tobermory an' it bit some one in Oban—well, your majesty, that's just what a telegraph is like."—Tit-Bits.

INFLAMED KIDNEYS

Medical writers declare it incurable after the sixth month whether albumenous or not.

The average man prefers to think of it as "kidney trouble" and lets it go but the census shows this appalling fact—out of 63,000 deaths from kidney troubles the last census year over nine-tenths of them (58,000) took the form called "Bright's Disease" although it is quite probable that nine-tenths of these up to the last moment thought of it as and called it "kidney trouble" when as a matter of fact the only possible hope laid through a specific for Bright's Disease.

There never was one until Fulton worked out his Renal emollient (Fulton's Renal Compound).

Since then inflammation of the kidneys whether albumenous or not or whether called "kidney trouble" or "Bright's Disease or whether six months or six years old commonly yields. If you have had kidney trouble over six months no matter what you call it it is the only hope. Efficiency 87% where patients do not wait until bedridden although some of them recover. THE GRAND JURY.

It is to be hoped that when Prosecutor Thomas has the grand jury at work he will lead that body's inquiries into a most searching investigation of moral conditions in Fort Wayne. It is also to be hoped, too, that he may have the ready and earnest co-operation of any who can give him information or put him in the way of procuring information for the grand jury. If Fort Wayne is as bad as she is represented let us uncover the foulness and make an end of it. If what is charged against this city is untrue let us have the record of it.

Unquestionably there are conditions that should be improved and can be improved by a grand jury investigation; though there is nothing existing here today that cannot be uncovered and wiped away by a drastic police policy in the hands of a department that means business and backed by a board of safety that is "on the square."

However, since the grand jury is summoned and will be held ready to hear whatever testimony can be brought to it concerning conditions in Fort Wayne we trust the most will be made of an opening so well occasioned to the purposes of the truth.

The grand jury can with entire propriety go into recent events in the police department. It can perform no better task than ascertaining if there have been conspiracies, as has been hinted; if there has been graft, as certain charges assert and some evidences show; if there has been on any hand false testimony and perjury, as surely must be the case in a situation so mixed.

There is need for this grand jury investigation, if for no other purpose than to prove that damaging things uttered against this city are not true.

TARIFF REFORM OUTLOOK POOR

It is not probable that anything more for tariff reform can be done at this session of congress than to pass a permanent tariff commission law along the lines of the Beveridge or the Longworth bills. Even that much is more prominent as an uncertainty than a prospect. President Taft will be urged to call an extra session of the new congress for the purpose of revising the tariff with a special view to immediate effects on the cost of living. It is not likely that he will summon a hostile majority to Washington to correct the blunders and crimes of the standpat crowd that "revised" the tariff two years ago; nor is it likely that if he did the said hostile majority would produce anything that a standpat senate could concur in or that a republican president figuring on a second term could put his name to with any ease of mind. Tariff reform will have to wait upon the advent of the second consecutive democratic house, the renewed democracy of the senate and the return of a democrat to the white house in March, 1913. However, if President Taft knows of any means by which he can bring tariff reform that means easier burdens of living, he has the consent and godspeed of the country, if not the approbation of the politicians.

President Taft is getting in so much of a hurry about providing adequate military protection for the Panama canal that the alarms of the panicky people are likely to be aroused and the quicker blood of the jingoes is apt to be stirred by the hurry to be ready for the worst. Meanwhile, a very formidable society is getting itself organized to offer strenuous opposition to fortification of the canal. Maybe that is the trouble that nestles in the fears of the president.

Meanwhile, the police department has nothing to say about and nothing to do with either the Clark bedhouse or the Calderwood resort. Are the laws still in suspense or is the police department awaiting an outcome of the graft inquiry?

It begins to appear that the tariff commission law that is coming on will bear the name of the "Longworth act," although Senator Albert J. Beveridge saw it first by a long, long time.

If "Black Mary" Maloly has committed perjury there will be a right fine prospect of banishing that diligent lady from the city.

BEST BE PLAIN.

Weedon Grossmith, at a dinner in New York, praised America.

"And I like American art," he said, "the art of your magazines and newspapers and novels and pictures. It's a direct art. It can't be misunderstood.

"Directness, plainness, is always best. I now write a direct, plain hand, but I used to write a confused one, all flourishes and curls, and as a result I often got in trouble.

"For example, a friend of mine sent me, by way of Christmas card, a photograph of his wife and five beautiful children. I wrote to the wife in acknowledgment of this charming picture. I told her poetically that she looked like a beautiful rose tree—she being the tree, you know, and her children the roses.

"But my wretched, confused hand spoiled everything, and the next day my friend demanded indignantly over the telephone:

"'Grossmith, what the deuce do you mean by writing to my wife and telling her she looks like a "dutiful rooster?"'"

Beat the Others by One.

Some little girls were boasting of their respective families. They had passed from clothes to personal appearance and finally came to parental dignity. The minister's little girl boasted:

"Every package that comes for my papa is marked 'D. D.'"

"And every package that comes for my papa is marked 'M. D.,'" retorted the daughter of the physician.

Then followed a look of contempt from the youngest of the party. "Huh!" she exclaimed. "Every package that comes to our house has three letters on it, 'C. O. D.'"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Naming No Names.

She—I have an instinctive feeling that I can trust you.

He (earnestly)—Ah, my darling, would that some others felt that way.—Boston Transcript.

Art Values.

Manager (Yaptown town hall)—Gee whiz! Can't you git along with less 'n that number?

Advance Agent—Not one less.

MUTINY IN PORTUGAL.

Paris, Jan. 13.—A news agency dispatch from Madrid says that a traveler arriving there from Badajoz, five miles from the Portuguese frontier, declares that the soldiers in the fortress at Elvas Portugal have mutinied, demanding increased pay. The Elvas workingmen have struck in sympathy.

Maitre Henri Robert, the most famous advocate in criminal cases at the Paris bar, told an audience almost entirely composed of ladies that before any jury a woman with some youth, some looks and a pretty voice has fifty chances out of one hundred of being acquitted, whereas a man would only have one. If she knows how to shed tears at the right moment she need not worry—a verdict of not guilty is a dead certainty.

AND YOU GET IT

Our Business Not a Lottery

Some business men buy 100 suits for $13; they mark 10 of these suits to sell at $15, and 90 to sell at $22 and $25. When you buy from them it's a lottery for you. 10 men pay too little for their suits and 90 pay far too much.

Such a merchant also will add, say 100 other suits which cost him from $8.50 to $10, and of a cheaper make, to sell at $15 and advertise remarkable values at that price. Of course there is a gambling chance, if you buy from such a merchant that you'll get a bargain but the chances don't look good to a thinking man.

There's another way of doing business:
Where a merchant figures out at the end of a year what his total expenses have been and what percentage of every dollar sold, his expenses amount to. Such expenses are referred to as the "cost of doing business." Now let this merchant add the percentage of the cost of doing business to the cost of every suit or overcoat and then add 3 to 5 per cent. for his own profit and we believe he is doing as nearly an honest business as is possible to run. No man gets something for nothing and no man pays two prices for his goods. We mark our goods that way.

We Know We Will Be Criticised For Exposing These Things

But as criticism will only tend to point out where "the shoe pinches" and as the statements are all FACTS, we think that you are entitled to spend your money with your eyes open.

We Can't Afford Sales More Than Twice a Year

The loss we sustain during a sale is really part of the necessary expense of doing business. It is necessary because the radical changes in styles, etc., would make the goods absolutely unsalable in a few years; because no man can foresee what he's going to sell and what is left takes up room and keeps capital tied up. A merchant who lets his stock accumulate, tying up his capital, stands a good chance of going bankrupt for he can't pay bills with old stock neither does he draw interest on it and his customers must have new styles to select from, before they'll buy.

WE WOULD ADD, that our expenses are exceptionally low, North of the Transfer Corner; that our merchandise is the best for the money we can buy and that we do as we advertise.

J. Maroney; financial secretary, Mrs. Mary Hermans; marshal, Miss Kate Favery; guard, Mrs. Karning. It was the first meeting of the society in the new Lyceum building.

WILL BE 350 VOICES IN IT.

Oratorio, "The Nativity of Christ," Now in Preparation.

Active rehearsals are now under way for the production of the oratorio, "The Nativity of Christ," which is to be given by the united choruses of the Lutheran churches of Fort Wayne and the students' choir of Concordia college. This will make a total of 350 voices in the production, and the Walther League orchestra will assist in it. The oratorio will be given at Saengerbund hall, and there will be three renditions—on January 31 and February 1 at 8 p. m., and on Sunday, February 5, at 2:30 p. m.

ADMITTED NEW MEMBERS.

Directors of Country Club Hold Important Session.

The directors of the Fort Wayne Country Club at a meeting last evening admitted eight new active members and twenty-five associate members, the latter largely members of the families of active members.

Th house committee has now under consideration the matter of a manager for the club house west of the city, which will be opened about May 1.

WILL ENJOY A BANQUET.

Phoenix Lodge, Knights of Pythias, to Feast Monday Evening.

Phoenix lodge No. 101, Knights of Pythias, will have a banquet for its members at the Pythian home on Washington boulevard west next Monday evening. The arrangements committee is composed of J. V. Wilson, George Oppelt and G. T. Pantazin.

F. J. Yesbera, an Auburn business man, was in the city last evening.

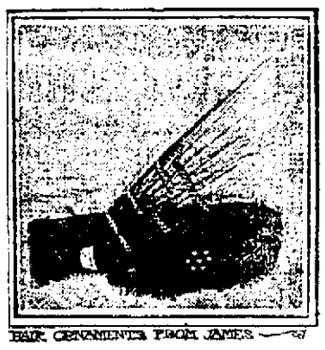
ATTRACTIVE HAIR ORNAMENTS



HAIR ORNAMENTS FROM JAMES

New hair ornaments are novelties, and the woman whose locks are not curly and refuse to kink naturally must persuade them to do so by artificial means if she wishes to have a contour of head which will be in fashion and also accord with the new styles of hair ornaments.

The trouble with the woman who never looks well when she wears one of those little ornaments is usually that her coiffure is several seasons behind the current style.

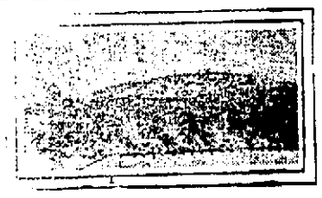
Hairdressing keeps close step with the changing fashions in headgear, and the alert woman whose tresses are always arranged in the latest fashion seldom has trouble in finding a becoming hair ornament or hat. Indeed, every little band or cap makes a picture of her head and face.

Little crownless caps are affected by the younger set this year, and in this season of luxuriant puffs and curls the are sure to add to the beauty of the wearer.

A young debutante seen at the opera the other evening wore a pretty little cap made from gold lace which was shirred and gathered into a soft band of gold colored ribbon.

A bow of the ribbon and tiny pink and blue roses in pastel shades added to the further beauty of the cap.

Then there was another ornament which may be easily made at home. It was a band of heavy gold lace and two tiny gold roses.



Such a band can be substituted for the rope of hair which is usually wound around the head.

Another headdress, called the "Julie cap," is made of interlaced pearls and has a frill of real Val. lace, which gives the wearer a youthful appearance.

Duchess lace goods, like the one illustrated, are popular, and also becoming, especially so when trimmed with ribbon and ribbon roses in some pastel shade.

Of course, for older women there are diamond studded tiaras and pins; aigrettes are also in keeping with fashions for mature women.

AN EASY BEDQUILT.

Cold weather is here with a vengeance and some of us are wishing we had one of the heavy quilts grandmother handed down to us and we handed down—to the church fair. Well, here is the way to make one quickly and easily. Get two pieces of sateen or of mercerized printed goods in contrasting yet harmonious colors, and of the proper size to fit your bed. Put the right sides together and machine stitch up two of the sides. Then turn the goods inside out and run it up in stripes six inches apart. Next get a soft calico, which tear up into strips each six inches wide. Machine stitch these up the sides and fill them with cotton batting.

Draw the color-filled calico into the strips of your quilt, being sure to fit them evenly and neatly, and sew up the ends. Finish with a ribbon quill or edging and your quilt is done.

BROOM PINCUSHION.

A very dainty novelty is the broom pincushion. For this you will require a large flat cork, a meat skewer (a new one, of course) and a few yards of baby ribbon in some bright shade.

Cut a small hole in the cork and insert the skewer firmly through it. Now wind skewer and cork together with the ribbon until they are entirely covered. Two bows on the skewer will hold the ribbon tight so far.

The broom effect you will gain by the pins; they must be driven thickly into the under side of the cork, holding the ribbon at that point and at the same time giving a very good imitation of a tiny metal broom. These make very nice favors at informal parties, club meetings, etc.

THE UPTURNED BRIM.

The brimless hat that eclipsed the brow has now a rival. It is the brim turned straight up from the face or the side of the head.

There is undoubtedly a becoming grace of line in this type. It shows the hair. It gives a curved line of beauty that forms an attractive frame for the face. It shows the under surface of the brim and gives opportunity for a contrast between the crown and the hair.

They are very small when it comes to size alone, but when you take into account the great amount of real in these little crackers it's no wonder that

TWO USEFUL PATTERNS.

By MRS. JANE FORD.

STOCKING FOOTING 11 HALF SIZES 6 TO 11 INCHES BED SLIPPER 7 SIZES 5 TO 11 INCHES

Any woman will have difficulty in keeping warm in winter without bedroom slippers and stockings with whole feet such as are illustrated here. The pattern for the footing stockings, as shown in the drawings, is both high and low in the toe. This pattern may be bought in eleven half sizes that run from six to eleven inches, and correspond in length with stockings of the same sizes.

The slipper pattern may be had in seven sizes that run from five to eleven inches and correspond with shoes of the same sizes. To make them one-half yard of material will be needed.

With the assistance of the pattern for footing stockings, those with feet too badly worn to be darned can be made wearable. To cut the feet, legs of discarded stockings or some other soft, pliable material should be used. The seams must be sewed by hand with darning cotton, and while sewing the goods should be stretched to prevent the stitches crack when the stockings are slipped on and off. After the seams are sewed they must be opened and catchstitched flat. It requires less time and patience to repair stockings in this way than it does to make several darns, and if a person becomes accustomed to using this pattern she will grow to feel it is indispensable.

The pattern for bed slippers is equally useful, because so many women suffer with cold feet, and this shoe will give the wearer comfort.

To make these slippers use eiderdown cloth, which is inexpensive. Flannel, broadcloth and felt may also be used. These slippers can be washed when soiled, but if a dark color is chosen for their construction it will be several weeks before a cleansing will be necessary.

The shoe is in two pieces that are joined by a single seam that runs through the center.

The stitching may be done by machine, and it can be finished either by opening the seam and stitching each edge flat to the material, or by catchstitching in places.

The upper edge can be turned down and stitched, or it may be elaborated with a row of crochet shells.

Gray is a pretty and serviceable color for the shoes, and looks pretty with a red or black finish at the top. Little wool is needed to make the crochet finish, and it adds much to the appearance of the slippers.

RECIPES.

Sardines With Rice.

Open a can of sardines, remove the fish carefully and pour the oil into a frying pan, adding to it half of a bay leaf and a half teaspoonful of curry powder. Thicken with a very little corn starch rubbed to a paste with melted butter. In five minutes add the fish and draw to one side of the fire where they will heat through. Serve them on a platter with a border of boiled rice.

Bouillon.

Take three pounds of beef from the under part of the round; this piece is usually selected because it is lean and free from bone, the latter never being used for soup which is to be clarified. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth, trim off the fat and run the lean through a meat chopper. Transfer it to an agate or porcelain lined soup kettle, cover it with three quarts of cold water and let it stand on the table for an hour, stirring occasionally. Put on the fire and heat slowly to the simmering point, skimming frequently. Simmer, closely covered, for four hours. Add one medium sized onion cut fine, one-half of a cupful of diced carrot, two stalks of celery, one sprig of parsley, one bay leaf, one scant teaspoonful of peppercorns and two cloves and simmer for one hour longer. Strain into an earthen bowl and set away in a cool place until next day. Remove the fat which has risen to the surface, add one teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, two strips of lemon peel, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of celery seed, the crushed shell and the white of one egg whipped to a soft froth. Put over the fire and stir constantly until it boils, then boil without stirring for ten minutes. Remove from the fire and let rest for ten minutes, then strain through doubled cheesecloth wrung out of cold water. Do not squeeze the cloth. If properly done, the soup will be crystal clear and of a faint amber color.

CHAFING DISH CHATTER

Mock Venison.

If you want something tasty for a chafing dish, try this:

Trim the fat from your loin chops. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, put quickly into the browned butter and as soon as browned on either side add two spoonfuls currant jelly. Put in the corner of the dish and simmer from six to ten minutes, according to the thickness of the chops. If you cook beyond the pink stage they grow tough.

OSTRICH BANDS.

Cut ostrich feathers are now being made into bands for trimming hats and dresses. These come in all colors that are adapted for street and house wear. They are uncurled, and therefore can be taken out into the rain with safety, if you wish. They are light in weight and give the effect of fur, which points speak eloquently in their favor.

Ostrich bands edge some of the large hats of velvet or silk. The trimming is applied on the edge of the wide brims, and usually there is little else required.

Some velvet suits are shown with cuffs and long revers of this trimming. Gray on gray velvet, black on black or colors are most effective.

The scarfs and muffs of feathers and fabric are beautiful. When you consider that the bands are procurable by the yard, there is no limitation to the many forms that the trimmings can take.

SEEMS ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE, DOESN'T IT? BUT LET US EXPLAIN:

Ever since our establishment in business, we've had the exclusive sale for Fort Wayne of the product of one of New York's greatest Suit houses. This firm manufactures high-class Suits only, and they are noted for their manner in carrying out every detail in the making of their garments. About three weeks ago they informed us that they had on hand a variety of materials in short lengths in good staple shades and light weight qualities and that about one hundred Suits could be made from the lot, and if we could use them at the price they quoted, they would rush the order and make them up in good styles that would be suitable for spring. Knowing their perfect reliability and that their materials and linings could only be high grade, we did not hesitate a moment, especially so as our Suit stock was very nearly "cleaned up." Well they came, not quite a hundred of them, and for this we are sorry. We wish the amount was double.

After going over them, we concluded to divide them into two lots and offer them at the above quoted prices as the greatest Suit offering ever heralded—Suits that you can buy at a fraction of their actual worth and know they are new! This certainly must interest you—we believe it will. We want you to see them at any rate. The qualities, colors, fabrics, linings and the styles will appeal to you very strongly, and then note your saving!

MAKE CONFESSION; ASK FORGIVENESS

Girls Converted in Chapman Meetings Restore Money Stolen.

TAKE SPLENDID STEP

Courageously confessing that they had stolen money, but declaring their purpose to repay it, accompanying their signed letter with a partial payment in restitution and asking forgiveness both for the peculations and for misrepresentations made at the time they secured positions formerly held, two Fort Wayne girls have given a concrete instance of the good accomplished by the recent evangelistic campaign conducted in this city by Dr. Chapman and Mr. Alexander.

It is not an instance of ordinary "conscience fund" contribution. With simple directness they wrote a letter, to which names and addresses were signed. They stated that the influence of the meetings had led them to see the error of former ways, and given them a determination to live upright lives, and they besought the forgiveness which was freely given. The letter was the joint work of two very close girl friends who were formerly employed in the Knox five and ten-cent store in this city, but who left their positions there some months ago.

Letter Written by Girls.

The letter was written to I. E. Lane, manager of the store. Naturally Mr. Lane guards as a close secret the names of the writers signed to the letter, but the missive bore date of December 31 and was as follows:

You will of course be very much surprised to receive this letter from us, and probably much more when you know its contents.

While going to church this winter, we have become more interested in the sermons than ever before, which made us think very seriously of the hereafter and just where we stood. Therefore, we have decided to make a change for the better, and live the way God would have us live. You know, of course, being a church member yourself, and have taken this same step at one time, that to do this you must be right with your fellowmen, as the bible says.

Now, Mr. Lane, we have a confession to make to you. We ask you to forgive us for telling you a number of lies before you gave us permission to work for you. We told you we were working at the Kidd Medical (by that statement you will remember, I suppose, which two girls we are) at that time, which was a lie, and also want to ask you to forgive us the way we quit work, not leaving you know, etc.

Another thing we both did was to take money, which wasn't a great amount, but it was stealing, just the same. We are awfully ashamed to think we would steal, but that is what we did, and earnestly ask your forgiveness. We are sending you two dollars ($2), and will bring the rest of it to you at the store or wherever you would rather, which will amount to five dollars ($5) apiece, at least.

We again ask you to forgive us, but one thing we are glad to think that in taking this one great step (which we all have to take before we can be saved and enter the Kingdom of Heaven, and furthermore, we must continue until the end what God would have us do, which is our aim) it has made us honest enough to confess it to you as well as to God.

Now, we hope you write, telling us you forgive us.

Enclosed First Payment.

Enclosed in the letter was $2 in currency as first payment in the restoration of the money which the young women confess they had taken. The evident sincerity and the courage manifested by the young women in signing their names and addresses to the letter, instead of enclosing money anonymously as is the ordinary procedure in what are known as "conscience fund cases," at once appealed to Manager Lane, and he wrote the young women, assuring them of his forgiveness, congratulating them upon the step they had taken and inviting them to call at the store.

A few days later they called in person and made a further payment upon the sum for which they have set about making restitution. Manager Lane again expressed his pleasure at the step which the young women had taken in the face of possible prosecution, and followed it up with some excellent counsel and commendation for their determination to lead the Christian life and indicating his desire to assist them in any way possible.

"Some people criticised the Chapman-Alexander meetings," said Mr. Lane to The Sentinel, "but here's a definite instance in which the absolute good they did is proved. Perhaps its publication may help others. And I think at least half of that money ought to go into evangelistic service. I've told the young ladies I'm going to send it to Dr. Chapman for use in his work."

NAT IS TOO AWFUL FOR ANYTHING

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 13.—Depositions in the divorce suit filed by Mrs. Nat C. Goodwin, better known as Miss Edna Goodrich, actress, will be taken up in the office of a St. Louis attorney. Herman Roth, attorney for Mrs. Goodwin, who has been in St. Louis since gathering evidence in the case, said that a St. Louis woman and a celebrated American actress, once of this city, would be named as co-respondents in the case.

Miss Goodrich will base her divorce suit upon the alleged actions of Mr. Goodwin while playing at Delmar Garden during the summer of 1910. Miss Goodrich, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Nell Goodrich, who also achieved theatrical fame, is expected in St. Louis from Chicago for a consultation with Mr. Roth.

Divorce proceedings were begun several weeks ago by Miss Goodrich in the supreme court of New York. All records of the action were carefully guarded from the public.

FARMERS OPPOSE CHANGES.

Declare Themselves Regarding Highway Legislation.

Preparing to formulate a protest against the creation of the proposed state highway commission, as well as against any material change in the present road laws of Indiana, the legislative committee named by the farmers of Adams and St. Joseph's townships, held a meeting at New Haven Wednesday.

There was a further declaration of opposition to what is termed the present unreliable tests of cattle for tuberculosis, as well as an endorsement of the present game laws and in favor of retaining the township advisory boards.

FERGUSON LANDS A HIGH AVERAGE

VISITORS WIN THREE

Ferguson, of the Van Wert Bowling team, landed three doubles in the contest with the Fort Wayne five at the Metropolitan alleys last night and piled up 649 pins and was the main factor in an overwhelming defeat handed the local crowd.

In the second game Denner rolled 243, which was the best score of the evening, and Schwartz bored into the maples for 226 and with some good support from the other members of the team a total of 1007 was picked off, but the visitors worked consistently all the way through and their lowest game was 914. Van Wert won by 128 pins.

PARKER MAY GET FOOLED IN TASK

Grand Rapids Fans Fear He Does Not Know Central's Strength.

NO NAMES ANNOUNCED

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 13.—Although the change in the ownership of the local baseball franchise is a welcome one to local fandom and the impression prevails that Dr. Harley Parker will have the support that is needed to make his team a success, some fear is expressed that he has not fully estimated the playing strength of the Central league and that in undertaking to build up an entirely new team at this time he has cut out a big job for himself.

This thing has not been successfully done since the league was launched, and the only attempt was a flat failure. Three years ago when Zanesville was knocking at the door and Canton was being ousted in its favor, Marty Hogan agreed to take the franchise without any players and he made a miserable showing and lost out as manager for trying to play Central league ball with men way below the standard of the organization.

Parker has announced that he will pick up some men from the semi-professional ranks of Chicago, but it is generally conceded that he will rue the day that he attempts to fill from the men who are now playing in the independent parks of his home city. Few of the recruits picked up there have ever made good on the Carson circuit and this strengthens the impression that the new owner has not kept up with the league in which he has just become a magnate.

He could have used at least three of the men Bert Annis had when he sold the franchise. Joe Raidy would have made him a good field captain, and a good shortstop. George Kihm is still popular enough here to have been retained, and a great mistake was made. It is believed, in letting Pitcher Larsen get away. These men have played in the Central and would have been able to give the new owner some advice.

Too much dependence is being placed in the promises of Charles A. Comiskey and Charles W. Murphy of the White Sox and Cubs, respectively. Baseball has its politics and both of the magnates have a number of friends in the minor leagues to whom they are obligated. While they may be perfectly willing to help the doctor out they must retain their standing with other club owners and will be compelled to split up their surplus players.

"I'll be back within the next two weeks, with my family to make our home here." So spake our newly acquired baseball magnate, Dr. Hawley Parker, as he boarded a train for Chicago. He put in a busy day in this city, but not from a baseball standpoint, for he was hot on the trail for a home in which to settle. He failed to sign a contract, but has several houses on his recruit list and may draft one at any minute.

Dr. Parker sold his cafe in Chicago some three weeks ago and now has nothing to hold him in that city, so will come to Grand Rapids as soon as he can pack his household goods and make his getaway.

During his stay here Parker was informed that he may be able to transfer his medical license from Illinois to Michigan and in case he does, he may practice in this city during the winter months. At any rate he can care for the ball player's injuries when on the field.

Bert Annis took his final departure yesterday morning. He held a long conference with Joe Raidy, but the two failed to come to terms and the former manager of the Stags is still in the dark as to what course he will pursue this coming season.

During our great overcoat sale that is now on we will sell a genuine "Carr Melton" overcoat with the finest tailoring, silk lined and inter-lined with flannel, for $40. It will compare with anything you can have made for $80.00.

At a meeting of the directors of the Fort Wayne Fair association last night Herman Tapp was elected president, Dr. W. F. Myers vice president, Charles McCulloch treasurer, H. T. Strieder secretary and W. J. Hugemach assistant secretary and treasurer. The new board of directors is composed of Charles McCulloch, James Gillie, L. A. Centlivre, Joseph Tonkel, E. H. McDonald, W. C. Schwier, William F. Myers, D. N. Foster, H. W. Tapp, George Thumm, H. T. Strieder, H. E. Sprague, S. B. Fleming, George V. Kell and O. Bird. John C. Peters and James E. White retired.

The report of Treasurer Charles McCulloch shows that after the payment of a dividend of 10 per cent., amounting to $1,048.50, the association still has on hand $2,465.66. The cash on hand one year ago was but $94.58. During the year the receipts from all sources aggregated $16,089.13 and the disbursements totaled $16,681.06.

M'INTYRE IS SOLD TO COMISKEY.

Announcement of Purchase by White Sox President is Made by Navin of Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—The sale of Matty McIntyre to the Chicago White Sox has been announced by President Navin. The transaction was cash, but the amount not divulged. Manager Jennings has tried to trade McIntyre several times, but, although Matty never regained the phenomenal form which characterized his work before he broke an ankle in 1907, he has been rated too good to be traded for a second rater. The deal is taken to mean that Delos Drake, a right hand batter who twice has been tried by Manager Jennings, will land a regular berth next spring.

Wants Johnson and Jeffries to Fight Once More.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 13.—Today's Chronicle says:

"Tex Rickard who, jointly with Jack Gleason, promoted the Jeffries-Johnson contest at Reno last July, is contemplating a return engagement between the two heavyweights. He already has the promise of Johnson to sign up for the bout, and he is gradually working to the point where he expects to secure the consent of Jeffries.

"Rickard is not prepared at the present time to make any announcement of his plans, but it is understood that he has the scheme well in hand.

Ora Morningstar's Start

Because of the advice of "Cap" Anson, the veteran manager of the famous Chicago team, back in the days of long ago, baseball lost a player who may have proved a shining light while the game of billiards gained one of its brightest luminaries. The player in question is Ora Morningstar, who was some ball tosser in his early days, but abandoned his ambitions to star on the diamond at the solicitation of the old timer.

Morningstar at one time played left field for a semi-pro club hailing from Rochester, Ind., his home town, and according to rumor was considered "some pumpkins" as a gardener. His team was also a classy aggregation, winning more than fifty contests that year without a defeat, among their victims being the best semi-pro and independent clubs that Indiana and Illinois could muster. One of their achievements was a defeat handed to the famous Cuppy, who pitched for the Logansport, Ind., club.

Towards the end of the season Rochester was scheduled to play Plymouth, the bitterest rival. Both teams had been playing excellent ball and the enmity between them was at fever heat. Plymouth loaded up for the occasion with three of the Chicago club's regular players, taking a pitcher, catcher and first sacker.

Strengthened by these men the team went into the game full of confidence and the score soon stood 6 to 4 in its favor. The ninth inning rolled around and still the tally was unchanged. Two of the Rochester players got on bases. With two men down Morningstar strode to the plate. The major league hurler soon wound over two strikes and then dished up a pair of wide ones, which Ora passed up. He then grooved one and the hitter's effort was a mighty one. The ball traveled far, hitting the roof of a sawmill that stood in deep center field and passed far beyond. Morningstar cantered home before the ball was retrieved, two men scoring before him. This made the count 7 to 6 in favor of the Rochester aggregation and the game ended that way.

The fame of the drive even reached Anson's ears and he continually joshed his players for allowing a rube team to beat them.

That winter Schaefer and Ives were scheduled to meet in a billiard match at Chicago. Morningstar also being an enthusiast beat his way to the Windy City to witness the contest. While there he accidentally met Pop Anson and introduced himself. Pop was engaged in a billiard match and when he heard of the youngster's errand challenged him to a match in which he was easily worsted.

"Do you want a job as a ball player, young fellow?" he asked the lad, after the match was over, remembering his doubly dead in the Plymouth game. Morningstar, as yet undecided whether to play baseball or to follow up billiards as a profession, asked Pop for advice on that score.

"Stick to the billiards, my boy," answered the veteran. "Although you might make a star ball player, which is just a probability you can last but 15 or at most 20 years in baseball. After that time is over you must follow some other profession. With billiards it is different. That is a game you can play throughout a life time. Therefore, my advice to you is to stick to billiards with steady application and earnest practice you, with your natural ability, can make a top notcher out of yourself."

With these words ringing in his ears, Morningstar returned to his home in Rochester and began practicing at his father's billiard table with the result that he soon gained national fame in the sport and now ranks as one of the best in the world of billiards.

HOF BRAUS DROP OUT OF THE TIE

COONEYS WIN THREE

In the first Brunswick league series last night the Hof Braus slipped in the championship fight and lost one game to the Wolf & Dessauer five, breaking the tie with the White Fruit House club for first place.

In the second game of the series Gehring, Hendelman and Leist all went to the bad and neither Sander or Doehrman bowled up to average and this accounts for the loss. Sander rolled the only double for the winners and copped a good score in the last game, taking high individual mark and average.

Harry Dreibelbiss shot the best game for the Wolf & Dessauer team. He opened with 222, fell down badly in his second game, but came back in the third with 211, falling 8 pins shy of a 200 average. George Jackson was second. The scores:

MAN MAY SURVIVE: WOMAN DYI

Victim of Youth's Deceiving Shoots Him and Herself.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 13.—Carl V. Storey, the former University of Illinois student, who was shot by Mrs. Alice Poepler, of Guthrie, Ind., last night while in a hotel here will probably recover, but the woman is still in a dangerous condition, according to a statement this morning by physicians at the city hospital, where the two were taken. A letter found under the woman's pillow in the hotel said that she intended to kill Storey because he had deceived her, and then commit

Sporting News in Tablets

Leo "Pope" Wills, secretary of the South Bend Baseball club, has purchased a cigar store and opened headquarters for fandom.

Manager Ed Smith will not depend entirely upon the old heads of the league taken from Grand Rapids to fill his club. He will try to land a few good youngsters.

Robert L. Hedges will retain the St. Louis American league club and Bobby Wallace will be his manager. Negotiations for a change in ownership have been called off.

Joe Tinker has made a grand impression on his old-time friends in Portland in the last two weeks. The Cub shortstop looks like a real actor to the Pacific coast fans and they are all loud in their praises of him.

Nick Altrock, the old-time White Sox pitcher, was the first man to return a signed contract to the Minneapolis club this winter. Nick is as much of a favorite in the American association as he was in the American league.

According to Billy Evans, the best training for an umpire is to eat the proper food and take good care of his stomach. Bad stomachs, he declares, hinder the sight and renders it impossible for an umpire to decide correctly on close plays.

The Giants are to have their own umpire in the south on the coming training trip. Roy Hansel, an old-time pitcher, will go to Texas with McGraw's men and call the balls and strikes during the practice games.

Duffy Lewis, the promising young outfielder of the Red Sox, has been playing ball during the winter on Sundays in spite of the clause in his contract which forbids it. He consulted Manager Hal Chase of the Highlanders before he played and acted on Chase's advice.

Over in Dayton they are ranting over the prowess of Harriott, the Kansas first baseman, who has been signed by the Vets. He fielded .999 and hit .355 in the Southwestern Kansas league last season. If these figures don't lie, it is too good a record for any player.

President Somers of the Naps thinks a first division berth will be the lot of his team the coming season. He has spent more money than any other club owner in either league for young players and deserves to have a good team if any one does.

Harry Smith, who was one of the Cubs during last year's training trip and later went to the Brooklyn Superbas, says he will not play ball with the Rochester team next summer, where he was sold last fall. He will quit the game rather than abide by the rules that govern it.

BADE MYERS HAS APPLICATION IN

This Report Comes from Zanesville Where Manager is Wanted.

WILL MEET TONIGHT

Zanesville, O., Jan. 13.—Directors of the Zanesville baseball club will hold a meeting tonight at which they will probably appoint a manager and report has it that Bade Myers, former manager of the Fort Wayne and Dayton clubs and lately at the head of the champion Quincy, Ill., club of the Central association, is an applicant for the position.

This rumor is from a source that is regarded as reliable, but the directors have nothing to say on the subject, holding that the applications are all submitted in confidence and that they would not be pursuing the right course in giving out the names as the information might injure the men's chances in other quarters.

Myers would be welcomed here. He is thoroughly acquainted with the Central league and has a good record as a manager and has been popular with the patrons in all of the towns he has played ball in. However, the general opinion here is that Montgomery will land the job as he has the inside and is popular with the club officials and the public generally.

Wonderful progress is being made in the campaign for funds and it is likely that when the report is submitted tonight it will show cash to the amount of nearly $7,000 with plenty of territory remaining to be covered and the assurance that the $10,000 mark set by President C. U. Shryock is not too high. It is believed that fully this much can be raised. A big portion of the money will go to the purchase of new players to build the team up to Central league form.

Theatrical managers have fallen in line with the movement and there will be two benefit performances which the boosters will be asked to attend as all of the receipts will go into the baseball fund. One of these performances is booked for tonight and the other for next Wednesday. Good results are expected from these sources.

It is probable that the directors will instruct the manager who is to be appointed tonight to go out and get some players. With money on hand to pay for them good material can be purchased and the wonderful strides the city has made in baseball within the last two weeks has been a big surprise to the promoters themselves.

There is much disappointment expressed at the inability of Dr. F. R. Carson to visit the city as he had intended, as the boosters believe that his presence would have been of great benefit in the campaign.

DR. CARSON IS ILL.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 13.—Dr. F. R. Carson, president of the Central league, who has been ill at his home at Navarre Place, this city, and whose condition last night was regarded as critical, is somewhat improved today. Carson's trouble is caused by abdominal complications.

Sent Him Off the Field

Patrick Henry Dougherty, of the White Sox, is a quiet and undemonstrative ball player and most of the American league fans imagine he is indifferent as to the result of the games. The fact is that it hurts him as much as any one to lose. He seldom kicks, but once he did lodge a protest with Tim Hurst—whereby hangs this tale.

Patrick Henry was at bat late in the game, when a hit meant a tie, and he was anxious to deliver the safe drive. He played the pitcher out to the limit, and with two strikes and three balls called, he sighted down the groove ready to spank the ball squarely between the seams. He saw the ball shoot five inches away from the corner of the plate, let it go and started to trot to first base. Imagine his surprise when Hurst said: "Strike three, you're out."

Dougherty was mad all the way through. He picked up his bat and remarked:

"Hurst, you're a blank blank crook and a thief."

"Do you think that of me, Patrick Henry?" said Hurst in his suavest tones.

"Yes, you blink blank blankety blanked robber, I do," spluttered Dougherty, wild with rage.

"If I were you, Patrick Henry," remarked Hurst, in his softest and silkiest tones, "I wouldn't associate with persons of that character. Git on off the ball field."

And Dougherty went to the clubhouse, grinning.

AMERICAN DREADNOUGHT TO BE LAUNCHED TOMORROW AND SISTER BATTLESHIP NEARING COMPLETION.

NEW YORK SHIPBUILDING COMPANY'S PLANT

THE U. S. S. ARKANSAS NEARLY READY TO LAUNCH

The battleship Arkansas, one more of the nation's "peace-makers," is ready to launch. This latest dreadnought will take the water next Saturday, January 14. One o'clock in the afternoon is the hour set, and then, as the trigger is released, twelve thousand inert tons will be started into life; the gigantic hull will be on her way to her first bath in the waves, hereafter to be her element. The launching will take place at Camden, N. J., in the yards of the New York Shipbuilding company, the firm which obtained the contract for building the Arkansas.

In a dock not very far from the Arkansas is being completed the Utah, the first United States battleship to be equipped with Parsons turbines and also being built by the New York Shipbuilding company.

TO REVISE ITS RELIEF RATES

Electric Relief Union Proposes Three Step Schedule of Benefits.

SWEELEY FUNERAL LARGELY ATTENDED

Every Division of Pennsylvania Lines Represented at Obsequies.

The Relief Union of the Fort Wayne Electric works has under consideration an important change in the benefit schedule. The matter has been in the hands of a committee some weeks and last night they presented their report at a business meeting of the union for first reading. It will be read a second and third time and then be submitted to a vote. It will require a two-third vote of the members present when action is taken to make this change. At present the union has a level benefit of $5 per week. The new rate will be a step rate of $3, $5 and $10, according to the class in which the beneficiary is listed. It is believed that the revision as proposed by the committee will pass.

WAS LARGELY ATTENDED.

Pennsy Employes From All Parts at Sweeley Funeral.

Messrs. T. W. Demarest, R. Fitzpatrick, W. L. Wilt and B. F. Sarver have returned from Pittsburg, where they attended the funeral yesterday afternoon of the late Master Mechanic G. P. Sweeley. Every division of the Pennsylvania Northwest and Southwest system was represented at the funeral and the men employed at the Allegheny shops turned out en masse, the works heir closed yesterday morning at their request for this purpose. It is said that fully 1,200 men were in the line following the hearse and the floral tributes were profuse and most handsome, great banks of flowers being at the side and upon the casket. Mr. Sweeley was held in the highest regard by his acquaintances.

SUB-DIVIDED COMMITTEES.

Electro-Technic Entertainment Committee Getting Busy.

At a meeting of the entertainment committee of the Electro-Technic club last night it was decided that better results could be gotten if the committee was sub-divided and each division given exclusive control over the arrangements for the events to be put on in a few weeks. Acting under this arrangement Chairman E. K. Allen last night made the following assignments: J. B. Mills and John H. Byrer to have complete charge of arrangements for the masquerade roller skating party, to be given at the rink this month; Frank Graff and Ralph Kapp to have charge of the arrangements for the annual dance and pedro party in February, and Garland Obenchain and George R. Gawehn to have charge of the annual vaudeville in May. The vaudeville last year was a surprise in its excellent features, beating most of the amateur events of its kind, and this year it is to be much better. A good deal of professional talent will be engaged for the occasion.

TWO ENGINES DERAILED.

Side-Swiping Accident in Chicago Did It.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, as eastbound Pennsylvania mail and express train No. 48 was leaving Chicago, it figured in a side-swiping accident with a train on the Burlington road at Twenty-second street. The engine on the Pennsylvania train struck the tender of the Burlington engine knocking it off the track. Both engines were disabled and had to be relieved. The trains were moving slowly at the time and no one was injured, but there was some delay to the trains affected on account of having to get new engines.

MEAT CUTTERS HAVE ELECTION.

Meat Cutters' union, No. 423, has elected the following officers to serve during 1911: H. F. Schwartz, president; W. A. Folger, vice president; J. Olinger, recording secretary; H. C. Horn, financial and corresponding secretary; George Bender, treasurer; L. U. Uncapher, guide; Charles Kessen, guard; Carl Hohn, sergeant-at-arms; trustees, F. J. Long, W. A. Knoll and B. L. Mulligan; L. D. Redding, business agent.

The publication of a revised list of unionized markets was authorized as during the past few months a number of new markets have been added to the list. The committee on the half day holiday during each week for meat cutters reported progress in their work. Three new members were initiated into the local and the applications of several candidates received.

RE-ELECTED MRS. FOSTER.

At the installation exercises last evening of the Woman's Union Label league, which was followed by a social session and refreshments, the following took up the duties of their respective offices, the head officer succeeding herself: Mrs. Ella Foster, president; Mrs. Lydia Miller, first vice president; Mrs. Eliza Bowen, second vice president; Mrs. Winifred E. Redding, recording and corresponding secretary; Mrs. Theresa Munday, financial secretary; Mrs. Louis DeFrain, treasurer; Mrs. Flossie Winters, pianiste; Mrs. Emma Rush, chaplain; Mrs. Louise Dreppen, drill captain; Mrs. Catherine Krock, doorkeeper; Mrs. Florence Nobro, Mrs. Mary Bosseker and Mrs. Rebecca Hunter, trustees.

SHOPMEN HURT.

H. W. Seibert, a cabbuilder at the Pennsylvania shops, sustained injuries yesterday when an iron fell on one of his feet. The member was badly bruised, but no bones were broken. A. N. Kiser, a helper in the blacksmith shop, had the index finger of his right hand lacerated this morning and is off duty and Peter Young is again off duty as a result of injury to his left arm. The member was burned a week ago and had recovered so that he was able to report for work. This morning he injured the arm by striking it against something and had to take another lay off.

AUTO MOTOR COMPANY.

The Fort Wayne Auto Motor company, which has been in operation nearly a year, had a stockholders meeting in the office of Vesey & Vesey last night, at which the following board of directors was elected: J. B. Reuss, A. D. Cressler, C. B. Fitch, M. G. Beaver, D. F. Douglas, H. P. Scherer, George Loesch and E. F. Perry. The election of officers will be held at a future meeting of the board at the call of the secretary. It developed at the meeting that the business outlook was good and the situation entirely satisfactory.

LEAVES HOSPITAL SATURDAY.

George W. Beach, an employe of the Pennsylvania railroad, who had his left leg amputated on Sept. 29, and who has been confined in St. Joseph's hospital since that time, will probably be able to leave the hospital Saturday.

CHOPPED OFF A FINGER.

While cutting wood at his home yesterday C. DeWitt cut off one of the fingers of his left hand at the second joint. He recently came here from the country to take a position in the Pennsylvania power plant and the accident was a factor in inducing him to resign. He will return to the country and take charge of a farm for a relative.

HARRY WATTERSON MARRIED.

Buffalo papers announce the marriage of Harry Watterson and Miss Bertha Sheenan at the home of the latter's parents in Geneva, O. Mr. and Mrs. Watterson will reside in Buffalo. The groom is night yardmaster of the Nickel Plate at Buffalo. He is the son of William F. Watterson, superintendent of the Buffalo division of the Nickel Plate, formerly of this city.

NO CHANGE IN WAGES.

The bi-monthly meeting of rolling mills men in Pittsburg yesterday resulted in an agreement to make the wages of puddlers the same in January and February as it was in November and December. This agreement is said to affect every puddler in the country, to the number of many thousands.

RETURNS TO WORK AT TRADE.

C. A. Kerns, who has been employed as a helper in the Pennsylvania erecting shop for several months, has concluded to resume work at his trade and he resigned this morning. He is a carpenter.

FELL IN PIT; HURT LEG.

M. C. Shookman, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, fell in a pit this morning and injured one of his legs so badly that he had to quit work and go home.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

W. A. Hibbard and W. Bagnell have taken employment at the Pennsylvania power plant.

Allen Hamilton, Fred Romary and Michael Casso, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, are sick and off duty.

After a week's absence on account of a lame arm R. W. Such has returned to work in the Pennsylvania storeroom.

Gang Foreman Fred J. Stahl has recovered from an injury received a week or two ago and is at work again in the Pennsylvania erecting shop.

Ralph Walker, 25, a brakeman on the Nickel Plate, is quarantined at the home of his father, C. R. Walker, at Greenspring, being ill with diphtheria.

Louis Dahlcamp, of the Electric works, was summoned to Hammond yesterday by a message stating that his brother was dangerously ill there.

Christian Seamendorf and son, of Buffalo, N. Y., who had been visiting Charles H. Rodenbeck, of 817 Madison street, left for their home this morning.

Westbound Pennsylvania train No. 23, due here at 10:10 in the mornings, did not reach Fort Wayne until after 12 o'clock today. The trouble was east of Crestline.

John Hayes, of Lafayette, special agent for the Monon, was in the city yesterday to confer with Captain H. C. Stoll on matters of interest to the police department of the Monon.

Machinist John Fratis, of the Wabash shops, is confined to his home on Columbia avenue by sickness. Richard Falconer, also a Wabash machinist, is taking a lay off to look after some private matters.

Chief Car Inspector Adam LaMar, of the Pennsylvania, is again permitted to enter his home after being shut out by quarantine two or three weeks. His little daughter had the diphtheria, but she has recovered and quarantine was lifted from the premises yesterday.

Z. C. Malloy, a boilermaker in the Montpelier shops of the Wabash, passed through the city last night en route to the Peru hospital. He fell from the running boards of an engine and suffered a concussion of the spine. Malloy is quite well known to the shopmen in this city.

Superintendent M. L. Reynolds and J. H. Tucker, chief telegraph dispatcher of the Lake Shore, with headquarters at Hillsdale, were in this city yesterday on business pertaining to matters connected with their department.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"THE LIGHT ETERNAL."

What Editor Goodale, of the Detroit Free Press, Wrote of It.

Mr. George P. Goodale, editor-in-chief of the Detroit Free Press, is widely known as being, in addition to a great journalist, a dramatic critic of discernment and conscience. Upon the recent appearance in that city of the great religious drama, "The Light Eternal," he wrote as follows in a signed critique.

(Detroit Free Press, Jan. 2.)

A play noble in treatment, imposing and inspiring in the theme and dynamic in movement, is "The Light Eternal."

It was made known to the local public yesterday at the Lyceum theatre through the agency of Messrs. Rice, Stair & Havlin. These, in turn, acquired it after Henry Miller had demonstrated its availability. It is said to have left a profound impression wherever it has been acted.

This may easily be so; for the present managers have provided it with a beautiful scenic dress, an adequate cast and movables commensurate with its dignity as an exposition of the persecutions under which the early Christians, in tragic numbers, went to the martyr's death in the Roman arena.

Especially are the settings of the second and third acts commendable. The former represents the villa of a daughter of the Caesar close by Rome. It is sumptuous in detail, exquisite in its lighting effects and altogether such a picture as the mind readily conceives of Pagan extravagance and sensuous appeal.

The third act passes in the throne room of the Emperor Diocelitian, and is concerned with the trial and condemnation of Marco Valerius and the Princess Artemia.

The former is a Christian by inheritance and education, and welcomes death rather than abjuration of his faith. The princess loves him, has been instrumental in procuring his doom and finally renounces her gods for the God of the Christian, and follows her lover to the death ordained by Diocletian himself.

Theatrical heroics could not go further; yet there is no moment in this play when the merely theatric seems to obtain. The tragic plane is never lowered; the characters at no time descend to footlight commonplace in speech or action; and there is no surrender to the conventional in efforts to provide so-called comic relief.

Incidentally it ought to be recorded and emphasized that the representation was followed with intense interest, rewarded with such applause as only earnest purpose entirely understood could hope to elicit, and discussed with every show of keen concern as long as there was a spectator left in the theatre.

Miss Eugenia Blair, who retains (or has regained) the ravishing figure of her youth, plays the Princess. She gives to the impersonation the benefit of a rich and varied experience, fine natural talents and the art that comes from much use thereof. Her elocution is intelligently fitted to the requirements of character and situation; her gowns are both magnificent and beautiful, and her picture of the haughty daughter of Diocletian and of the woman whom love renders pure womanly is done with extraordinary skill.

Marco Valerius, the Christian hero of the tale, is represented by George A. Lessey. His big frame, voluminous vocalism, graceful action and well managed semblance of contrasting emotions combine to make the portrayal something out of the ordinary. John Milton plays with excellent discretion the opposite part of Corvinus, who seeks the death of Valerius because of his better standing in the Princess' favor. Charles Terriss exhibits intelligence and rightly timed and graded reticence as an old Christian merchant called Damius. Miss Rose Watson amply fills the measure of the Roman matron, Luciana, mother to Valerius, in all its details, including unusual and refreshing clarity of speech. Miss May Abbey, a sometime local favorite in the Vaughan Glaser company, acts a trivial part of a single scene, and that only a feeder, with something of the spirit that warmed this public to her work and personality last season.

"The Light Eternal" is a dramatization of Martin V. Merle, of his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman's well known story "Fabiola." The booking is for a week, with matinees today (Monday), Wednesday and Saturday.

G. P. G.

HE IS A LIFE SAVER.

Barney Gilmore, the young Irish actor, who comes to the Majestic for three nights and three matinees with his new play, written by Joseph LeBrandt, "Kelly from the Emerald Isle," is an honorary member of the Life-Savers of Atlantic City, N. J. This association is a paid force of men who patrol the beaches of this famous watering place and keep a wary eye upon the bathers who flock to the water in thousands. Mr. Gilmore was made an honorary member for his work on two occasions in assisting the guards in rescuing stricken bathers.

HOLD THE EDDY WILL INVALID

Eminent Lawyers Say It Violates Laws of Two Commonwealths.

SON MAY GET ESTATE

Concord, N. H., Jan. 13.—That the residuary clause in the will of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, is null and void is the opinion of former United States Senator William E. Chandler, Hannis Taylor, of Washington, D. C., professor of constitutional and international law at George Washington university, and others, as given out for publication here last night.

The clause provides for a gift of about $2,000,000 to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, known as the "Mother church."

The New Hampshire Law.

A statute of New Hampshire prohibiting a bequest to a church of over $5,000 annually is the basis of the opinion which was written by Prof. Taylor. Referring to the residuary clause as "null and void," the opinion says:

"As to the void gift, the testatrix died intestate and its subject matter passed on her death to her next of kin, under the New Hampshire statute of distribution."

In the closing paragraph the opinion advises the attorneys for the next of kin that such agreements and contracts as those made with the testatrix and her trustees in her lifetime bind them only "to recognize as valid such provisions of her last will as are legally valid."

Review of the Facts.

Mr. Chandler, in his letter to Prof. Taylor, reviews the facts regarding Mrs. Eddy's will and estate and the "next friends" suit which resulted in Mrs. Eddy placing a large sum of money in trust for her son, George W. Glover, of Lead, S. D., and his children. He then describes his signing the agreement by which the "next friends" suit was called and adds:

"Mr. Streeter (General Frank Streeter, of Concord) drew the agreement for signature. When signing, I took it for granted that Mrs. Eddy would not in giving away her property undertake to violate public law. If I had thought she had already done so, by attempting to create a church with an endowment of $2,000,000, I should not have signed."

Late yesterday a petition was filed in the superior court here by ex-Senator Chandler and other attorneys, asking the court for a construction of Mrs. Eddy's will, particularly the clause relating to the residuary estate.

The petitioners also pray for an injunction against any disposition being made of the property in question, pending the construction of the residuary clause.

Astonishes Lawyer Taylor.

"It is difficult to understand how anyone could have imagined in the presence of the positive prohibition of such statutes that a testatrix domiciled in New Hampshire and governed by its laws could give by will to a single church in Massachusetts, governed by its laws, a single bequest of nearly $2,000,000—a sum nearly twenty times as great as that permitted as a gift to any one church by the laws of New Hampshire," says the opinion of Prof. Taylor.

"Moreover, if the bequest was not void for lack of power in the testatrix to make it, still it would be void by reason of the lack of power on the part of the legatee, a Massachusetts corporation, to take it. The Massachusetts statute is much more severe than that of New Hampshire. It expressly provides that 'the income of the gifts, grants, bequests and devises made to or for the use of any one church shall not exceed $2,000 a year, exclusive of the income of any parsonage land granted to or for the use of the ministry.'

The Legal Consequences.

"If it be true that the testatrix has defied the law of New Hampshire by attempting to give to a single church the income on a vast sum of money to be used for all time by it 'for the purpose of more effectually promoting and extending the religion of Christian Science as taught by me,' what is the legal consequences of such a violation of positive law? There is no ambiguity; the gift is to a single church for a single purpose. That church is to maintain for all time a propaganda of a new and peculiar form of religious belief.

"It was just such perpetual endowment in the hands of a single church for the propagation of any form of religious belief that the statutes of New Hampshire and Massachusetts designed to make impossible."

The letter by Mr. Chandler requesting an opinion from Prof. Taylor says in part:

"Prior to the making by Mrs. Eddy of her will on September 13, 1901, she had taken up the delusion that her son George had become possessed by evil spirits under the influence of what she called malicious animal magnetism and had become hostile to her, and she had declared her intention to disinherit him and she had also gone on to conceive the same delusion concerning her adopted son, Dr. Forest Eddy, and had kept them both out of her presence and away from the city of her residence, and had allowed to be expelled Dr. Forest Eddy from the Christian Science religious body.

Charge Against Son.

"I give to you herewith a copy of a letter from her, making the charge against her son George:

"'Concord, Sept. 22, 1899.

"'Dear Student: I see this morning the purpose of the enemy. It is to break my will at my death, if this the latter can be accomplished. My son in South Dakota is a victor at law, and M. A. M. will influence him to break my will. Now this I enjoin on you. Enquire of the best copyright lawyers out of Boston you can find if I can assign my copyright of Science and Health and Unity of Good to some one who could hold it if my will was broken and never name this party in my will or name him to whom it is assigned, which ever would make it legal. Find this out at once and the way of conveyance of any copyright so that if my will should be broken the publishing of Science and Health and Unity of Good could go on without hinderance.

Assignment of Copyright.

"'I shall assign the copyright of these books to one or two, perhaps, of my students in equal shares, who I think have done or will do the best as publishers and owners of these books.

"'Do not delay to ask a lawyer or judge of the United States circuit court all about this question of a legal conveyance of a copyright so that the ownership will take place after the decease of the present owner. This conveyance to be made outside of a will so that if the will was broken the assignment would be valid. In haste, affectionately,

"'M. B. G. EDDY.

"'Be perfectly silent to all but legal parties about what I have written. The Boston lawyers whom I have employed are demoralized by M. A. M. Note this.'"

THE ABSURD SEAL.

A most absurd thing connected with legal business is the little piece of red, green or blue paper or daub of sealing wax which we often place at the end of a signature to a deed, will or other important document.

It is a very small thing in size, but one to which a great deal of importance is frequently given. It is a relic of antiquity, and no plausible excuse can be invented for continuing its use.

Some of the more progressive states have practically abolished its use by legislation, which deprives it of any technical significance. In others, however, it is still used with all seriousness and solemnity, and an almost magical value is given to it by dignified judges that is little less than ridiculous.

A man died years ago leaving part of his estate to another to enjoy while he lived, with the privilege of devising it at his death to others whom he hight select by a writing under his "hand and seal." A writing was executed so devising the property, but it was contested by others claiming that the paper contained no seal after the signature, and the devise was therefore void.

A wise Philadelphia judge scrutinized the signature and after carefully listening to the arguments of lawyers decided that at the end of the signature there was an extra scroll or flourish made with the pen with which the signature was made, that this was sufficient in law to constitute a seal.—Case and Comment.

The changes that time effects in values is seen in the fact that for the best-known song and waltz of Johann Strauss, which was played in two hemispheres, "On the Blue Danube," thirty-five years ago Strauss received 600 kronen, while his publisher made 300,000 kronen by the same waltz. Lehar has received up to the present time in Vienna, America and other places one and one-half million kronen.

WOMEN SECURED DENVER REFORMS

Uplifht and Improvement in Municipal Life Due to Lady Voters.

WHAT THEY WROUGHT

Denver, Colo., Jan. 12.—Visitors who see the half million dollar auditorium in Denver, in which the national democratic convention was held two years ago, do not as a rule know that it was through a woman that it came to be built by the city. Helen Belford was a member of a convention that framed a charter for Denver, and of her own motion she introduced the clause which provided for the bonding of the city to build the auditorium.

One has to look under the surface to find how many things in Denver are in the hands of women. For several years Mrs. H. A. True was president of the school board, elected to that office by the board itself. It is said that while she was president the board never took any action disapproved by her, so that the school system of Denver was practically controlled by one woman for several years.

The first political fight the Denver women ever had was over the school situation. The superintendent of the city schools had held the office since the early days of the city, and was drawing a salary higher than that of a member of congress or of the school superintendent of Chicago, a city several times as large as Denver. He was strongly entrenched in his office. He could suit everybody save some of the mothers of his pupils. Dissatisfaction grew among them until they finally nominated a woman who was opposed to him for the school board, and innocently went forth to vote on school election day.

School Elections.

School election is held by itself in Colorado, and for that very reason it had been left out of the provisions of the Australian ballot law, which requires previous registration. Anybody can walk up and vote at the school election. The astonished women saw that day wagonloads of men driven in turn to every schoolhouse in town, and voted at each, all to defeat a woman for the school board. It was their first experience of repeaters and practical politics.

Their candidate was snowed under, of course, but they kept coming back, year after year, with ever-increasing numbers, until they finally won out. The women have had a deciding voice ever since as to who should be superintendent of schools in Denver.

The library situation is as much in the hands of the women as the schools. Mrs. A. M. Welles has been chairman of the state traveling library commission ever since the law establishing it was secured by the women. The state superintendent of schools, who is always a woman, has charge of the state library, and Miss Anne Evans is chairman of the board of directors of the Denver city library.

Mrs. Welles, as a member of the charter convention, got the library regulations that she wanted into the charter. One of them was that there should always be women on the board of the city library. Then she got Miss Evans appointed on the board. Miss Evans is a woman of wealth and makes looking after the needs of the Denver library the chief business of her life.

At Odds With Librarian.

The women of Denver had many differences of opinion with the city librarian, a man who had been as long in office as the superintendent of schools. They wanted the open shelf system, they wanted district libraries, and they wanted various other things, all of which he refused to give them. They got them all, one after another.

The women's nonpartisan political movement in Denver is carried on by women who have been through the mill of party politics since they got the vote in 1893 and who do not think it pays. The movement came into existence last spring. Since then it has attempted two things, and has accomplished both of them.

One was to elect Ellis Meredith commissioner of elections last spring, by a vote so overwhelmingly in advance of that of any of the four men elected that the men felt themselves obliged to elect her chairman of the commission. So that the conduct of elections in Denver is now largely in the hands of a woman.

In the campaign of the past fall the nonpartisan women formed the Wixson-Wolcott league. Mrs. Helen M. Wixson was running for state superintendent of schools on the republican ticket and Miss Anna Wolcott for regent of the state university on the same ticket. Only three candidates on the republican state ticket were elected in Colorado last November and these two women were two of them. This was another indication that the vote of the nonpartisan women was a thing to be considered.

Want to Show Power.

The thing they are after is not only to elect the persons whom they consider most desirable, but also to demonstrate a power that will make them considered in every nomination made by a party. They would have liked to indorse other candidates last fall, notably Miss Gail Laughlin, a suffragist, and a lawyer, for the state senate, but they feared to undertake too much. With each of their victories they have acquired confidence. All the work of their campaign is voluntary. There are no paid workers. It is the business of women who have leisure, they say, to devote part of that leisure to participating in the government of the state in which they are voters.

Miss Wolcott, who was elected regent, is a sister of Henry Wolcott, and of the late United States Senator Edward O. Wolcott. They came of the old colonial Wolcotts, of Massachusetts. It is related that a ta dinner party in Denver just before the November election an eastern man, hearing the women speak of politics, said:

"But, of course you—such women as you here—have nothing to do with politics."

"Why, yes," said the hostess, "Miss Wolcott there is running for office now."

He looked at Miss Wolcott, stately and distinguished, with masses of snow-white hair set off by a sweeping blue velvet robe, and his face expressed his surprise. Miss Wolcott has been for years proprietor and principal of one of the best-known private schools for girls in the west.

Mrs. Wixson, the new state superintendent of schools, lived as a girl in Durango, then a high-pressure frontier town. An incident of her life in those days is often recalled by old-timers.

Town Full of Gamblers.

The town was full of gamblers and bad men who made nuisances of themselves, and the community just reached the point where it realized that they must be suppressed. A minister named Peck had said very strong things against them from the pulpit. One gambler was shot in a barroom row and his friends determined to have his funeral at Mr. Peck's church and let the word go out that they intended to do up the preacher if he said anything against the dead gambler.

Mr. Peck would not take a dare, apparently, and in the course of his remarks took occasion to deplore the mode of life of the dead man, and to intimate that he had invited his own demise and did not merit any great amount of pity therefor. There was a stir and uprising in the seats, and guns were drawn. At the psychological moment a young girl who sang in the choir stepped forward and began to sing "Angels Ever Bright and Fair."

She sang the hymn so well that the dead man's friends were soothed, the storm passed and the funeral was brought to a conventional conclusion. Mrs. Wixson was the girl and the coolness and quick judgment which she displayed at that moment have continued distinguishing characteristics of hers.

Denver people say that Mrs. A. M. Welles is back of most things the women accomplish in politics; that other women are elected to office, but it is Mrs. Welles who puts them there. She was at the head of the women's long fight in school matters. She is always chairman of their campaign committees. Remaining aloof from all party ties, she works for what she considers the best interests of the community in each campaign.

She is the wife of a mining expert, and when she went into the school fight she had two sons in the public schools. She has received an offer of a nomination for state senate and refused it. The nomination for commissioner of elections was offered to her and she refused. She was unanimously elected president of the state federation of women's clubs and she refused that.

Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker, formerly president of the national organization of women's clubs, is a power in the women's political life. Her chief public work in Colorado was as chairman of the state board of charities and correction, in which office she had general oversight of all penal institutions of the state. She was a factor in securing the indeterminate sentence law. Mrs. Helen L. Grenfell, for many terms state superintendent of schools and the only person who ever polled more votes than William Jennings Bryan in Colorado, is another dominating figure among women in Colorado.

Denver women have gradually but steadily learned how to work together and accomplish things since they got the vote. The Woman's club owns a clubhouse, free of debt, which brings them a rental of $500 a month. They refused an offer of $75,000 for it not long ago. Some day they will sell it for a large sum, will build on some less valuable site and have money to invest.

"Sunkist" Lemons

If you want the finest lemons grown ask for "Sunkist" brand and note how much juicier they are and how much farther they go in preparing sauces, cakes, pies, salads and drinks

Seedless—Fibreless—Juicy and Sweet—A Perfect Fruit

Five thousand California orange farmers, raising 60 per cent of the state's entire crop, select, each season, their perfect oranges and pack them under the name "Sunkist." This enables you to recognize and buy California's choicest, tree-ripened oranges.

Until you have tasted a luscious "Sunkist" orange, you cannot begin to appreciate the excellence of oranges that are properly grown, rigidly inspected, carefully packed and swiftly transported. Serve "Sunkists" on your table tomorrow morning and learn the superiority of tree-ripened, fibreless, seedless, solid and sound oranges over the commonplace kind. "Sunkist" oranges are so nearly all food that they are much the cheapest kind to buy.

"Sunkist" oranges are thin-skinned and are hand-picked. The "Sunkist" orange is a firm, solid fruit. Ask your dealer for the "Sunkist" kind and make sure that each orange you get is packed in a tissue paper wrapper labeled "Sunkist." For these wrappers are valuable.

COY, BUT—

William R. Hotchkin, president of the Sphinx club, said of advertising, at the club's recent banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York:

"Honest advertising and honest goods are the only methods that pay. The public wants honest goods. Advertise them honestly, and the coy public will respond like Peggy.

"'Peggy,' said Sandy, 'Ah'm sayin', Peggy, will Ah kiss yer cheek?'

"'If ye dae,' said Peggy, 'Ah'll skreich.'

"'Oh,' said Sandy, 'dinna skreich.'

"'An' don't ye kiss me on the mooth, then,' said Peggy, 'for if ye did Ah couldna skreich at all.'"

Carlo Buonglovanni, a young Italian peasant, and his bride, Maddalena, of Mondovi, entered a train for the first time in their lives in order to spend their honeymoon in Turin. But they were so terrified by the train's motion that they jumped out. The bridegroom received serious injuries, the bride being unhurt.

Saves Health of Old People—Trial Free

A healthy old couple who have lived a long life together make an ideal picture. But unfortunately so many old people have a dismal life. Even if they are otherwise in good health they seem to suffer from constipation and indigestion. It is the penalty of old age. To old people, the best advice is—Be careful of your food. But even that is not all. The stomach and bowel muscles are no longer as active as they used to be and on that account movement of the bowels is more difficult. To aid nature take a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin whenever you find yourself becoming constipated or when you have any difficulty digesting your food. It is not strong like salts or purgatives, but is mild, gentle and non-griping—just what elderly people need. It is the best laxative for old people, as it is for women and children. Many men and women far beyond seventy have been able to discard all medicines after a brief use of Syrup Pepsin. The regular bottles can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar, but we suggest that you make a free trial of it first, as so many others have done. Send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will send you a free sample bottle.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

The following are some extracts from letters Dr. Caldwell has received:

"Your free sample bottle came in due time and I was so gratified with results that I bought a larger bottle and am so in favor of its effects that I am putting others on the track to get relief. I am 79 years old and have been troubled with a torpid liver, but feel that I now have the right remedy and will no longer have the trouble. Also it acts without inconvenience."—Mrs. W. H. Carter, Maywood, Ill.

"I am 73 years old; have been seriously afflicted with heart trouble for over 15 years, unable to do anything during that time; have spent all I had doctoring with several local doctors and many specialists, all to no purpose. My case is a very hard one and incurable; constipation of a very serious nature. I would, for years, go from three to five days without a movement; would take pills, salts, etc., until I was entirely tired of life. Have tried everything. I saw your ad; sent for free sample of Syrup Pepsin, received it and it did me so much good that I got a 50c bottle and have taken it as per directions regularly; shall get another bottle today. It has done me a world of good. It is the nicest to take and the most effective of any remedy I have ever used. It is simply a god-send to me."—A. A. Lewis, R. 2, Box 51, Bentonville, Ark.

"I received your free sample of Syrup Pepsin and have taken it and am now taking a $1.00 bottle. It is doing me a great deal of good. I have had trouble more or less with my stomach ever since I left the army, but have never taken very much medicine for it, but the sample you sent me did me so much good I thought I would give it a trial. It is helping me and I shall continue to take it. I can recommend it to any one having stomach trouble and heart trouble."—Geo. S. Spaulding, Nat. Soldiers' Home, Kansas.

"I have tried your Syrup Pepsin and found it all that you claim. I am recommending it to the old veterans and they are buying it on my word. I shall use it as long as I live. I cannot praise it enough."—Enos Gilpin, National Soldiers' Home, Danville, Ill.

BRAVING DEATH TO GET WHISKY

A KEEN WAR OF WITS

New Orleans, Jan. 13.—The whisky fight along the river boundary between Mississippi and Louisiana is as fierce as ever, and continues to claim its quota of victims. The latest is Frederick Bunster, who was drowned while crossing the Mississippi river in a barge from Vicksburg to De Soto island to get a drink. De Soto island is the last stronghold of whisky on the Mississippi line, and is furnishing drinks for the thirsty population of Mississippi for fifty miles up and down the river.

Vicksburg, Warren county, and Natchez, Adams county, were the last two counties in Mississippi to remain wet. A large majority of the voters in both counties favored license, and it was found impossible to vote them down. Up to a few years ago, county local option prevailed in Mississippi. One by one, seventy counties voted for prohibition and closed up their saloons. Four remained obstinate, two on the gulf coast tributary to New Orleans and two on the Mississippi river.

Efforts at Conversion.

Again and again attempts had been made to convert this wet territory. The prohibitionists, who were in a large majority in Mississippi, insisted that vigorous action should be taken in dealing with these obstinate counties, and proposed statewide prohibition. This was opposed for some years, because it was feared that it would force the liquor issue in state politics and divide the democracy. Finally the prohibitionists could endure no longer the sight of the Vicksburg and Natchez saloons. They dropped local option and passed a statewide prohibition law, closing the Vicksburg and Natchez saloons.

Ever since this was done a war of wits has been going on over the liquor traffic. Locker clubs started up where drinks were possible, but they were soon closed. Then came soft-drink establishments. The authorities declared that these were mere blinds, hard drinks becoming mixed with soft ones. Moreover, a man could become intoxicated with soft drinks, containing as they did 2 per cent. of alcohol, if he could consume several gallons of the stuff. The soft-drink establishments were closed.

Then the fight was transferred to the express companies. "Jug houses," which furnished whisky by the jug or barrel, sprang up in Louisiana, mainly in New Orleans, which made a specialty of shipping whisky by the jug to Mississippi. There are eighty or more of these houses in New Orleans, and they have done a big business. Latterly the Mississippi authorities have made it as hot as possible for the "juggers," and the packages usually go in boxes without the slightest indication of what the boxes contain.

Some of the express companies, being unwilling to cater to the business, whisky telephone and express companies were established to handle it. Thus the citizen of Natchez who wanted a drink had only to telegraph to Ordallia, La., and the Louisiana and Mississippi Express company, which operated between these two towns opposite each other on the Mississippi river, at once forwarded the liquor, but every one of these schemes was met by the authorities, and although there is still a great deal of whisky going into prohibition Mississippi, the shipments have been more difficult and the amount of liquor consumed is, because of these difficulties, growing steadily less.

It is natural that the liquor men should use the river to carry on the business, especially as the population is much denser on the river than back of it. The Mississippi has been used for years for the purpose.

Doing an Immense Business.

When prohibition first came into existence in Mississippi the bars of the river steamboats did an immense business, but the time between drinks was long under this plan. The whisky fleet then sprang into existence. The fleet steamed up and down the river, anchoring in midstream opposite some dry county of Mississippi or Arkansas. Skiffs and boats of various kinds could then be seen putting out to the whisky fleet from every point on the river bank.

There was a glorious drunk on the boats, and when they pulled out later, scores of them loaded with drunken men and jugs of whisky pulled to the shore. The fleet was thoroughly demoralizing to labor wherever it went, and drew down on itself the vigorous opposition of all the authorities.

The whisky fleet is no more, or rather it is now anchored or stranded at De Soto island, opposite Vicksburg. The vessels have anchored permanently and now compel the Mississippians who want a drink to come to them. Twenty-five boats are at De Soto island, a sandbar in the center of the Mississippi river which might be called Whisky Island or Grant Island, for it is one of the products of General Grant's campaign against Vicksburg.

The confederate batteries at Vicksburg kept vessels from ascending or descending the river. Grant sought to avoid these batteries by cutting a canal across the Louisiana point opposite the towns, so that vessels could go around Vicksburg. His canal proved a failure, but thirteen years afterward, in 1876, the river forced its way throug the old canal and completely changed its course, leaving Vicksburg an inland town, and among other things creating De Soto island.

THE BUCKEYE

819 Calhoun Street

SUPERSTITION IN HUNGARY.

An astonishing case of superstition is reported from Bihal, near Grosswardein, Hungary.

A few days ago a series of violent earthquake shocks shook the neighborhood, some being so violent that the church bells rang. The villagers were alarmed, and consulted an old woman quack of the place, who declared that the shocks were the groans of the devil, who suffered from cold and hunger. Thereupon the peasants threw a number of calves and goats into a chasm outside the village to appease the devil's hunger, and set fire to the bishop's forest in the neighborhood to provide him with warmth.

The quack and several peasants have been arrested.—New York Sun.

A FILMY BARRIER BETWEEN HIM AND PRISON.

SHADOW ON A PHOTOGRAPH THAT SAVED A MAN FROM PRISON.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 13.—Saved from a long term by the shadow of a church steeple, which formed an alibi for him, is the unique experience of Frank Erdman, who has just been tried in the Omaha courts on a charge of attempting to kill Tom Dennison, an Omaha politician, with dynamite.

Erdman was accused of placing an infernal machine on Dennison's porch between two and three o'clock one Sunday afternoon. Two young girls returning from church, testified to having seen the man, easily identified because of an impediment in his walk, near the Dennison home at half-past two o'clock that afternoon. At the time he was carrying a suit case, an exact duplicate of which was found at Dennison's house.

In the trial the state made out a clear case, showing, among other things, that Erdmann, walking in front of two girls, was in the vicinity of the Erdman home at the time stated. In defense, Erdman's attorney, Colonel J. O. Yeiser, introduced a photograph in which the two girl witnesses appeared. The picture was made at a church confirmation an hour before the girls, returning home, met the accused man. Across the face of the photograph plainly showed the shadow of the church steeple.

From the angle formed by the steeple and the horizontal boards of the church, Father Riggs, astronomer at Creighton university, calculated the time the photograph must have been made, and testified that the exact moment was during the afternoon at 3:21:29 o'clock—one hour later than the girls testified they met Erdman. The testimony given by the astronomer was so concise and clear and the impossibility of the girls having seen the accused man near Dennison's house at the time the bomb was placed was shown to be so absolute that Erdman was not convicted.

SOCIALIST NOMINEE IS SETTING TYPE

CAN'T WIN THIS TIME

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 13.—To find a candidate for the United States senate with a typestick in his hands, his fingers black from printers' ink, and pegging away at his job of typesetting in a shop along with a bunch of fellow-workmen is not an everyday experience. Candidates for that august body, which has been variously but not respectfully described as the millionaire's club and the American house of lords, are not, as a rule, to be discovered at such fundamental tasks.

Joseph Cohen jr., who happens to be a nominee for the United States senate from Pennsylvania, was found yesterday at such a job in a printing office on Callowhill street, this city, where he is proud to be seen on the job. When he was asked if he was a candidate for the United States senate, he promptly answered that he was, wiped his hands on his printers' apron, put his type stick aside for a few moments, leaned up against a big press and told what he would do in case he were sent down to Washington by the legislature to take a seat among the sleek and fur-coated United States senators.

He Will Lose, "This Time."

Cohen is the man nominated at Harrisburg for the United States senate by Representative James H. Maurer, of Berks county, the only socialist member of the legislature. He knows that he has no chance of election, that is, "not this time," as he said yesterday. But as he stood in the printing office yesterday with the click of the type going merrily on around him, and men running to and fro with proofsheets and copy, and the presses making their din, he left no doubt as to whether he takes his nomination seriously. In fact, it is the most serious thing in all the world to this earnest and quiet young man and he predicted that the time would not be a very great way off when to get a socialist nomination for the United States senate from Pennsylvania would carry with it the probabilities of election.

"For you must realize," he said, "that by the actual number of votes cast at elections, Pennsylvania stands second only to Ohio among the states in the union, as regards the number of socialists in her confines. We have just got in the entering wedge, and the other results will no doubt follow with comparative rapidity. It is no mere dream that we are indulging in. You have only to look at Germany to realize that, and the socialist wave will sweep the whole world. The United States may lead the world in the sweep, too."

Cohen is a man of 28 years, quiet, well educated, a graduate of the central high school in this city; a former holder of a scholarship in the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts; a resident at 3085 Kensington avenue, and a printer by trade, because he believes that in this craft a man does not earn his bread at the expense of his fellow-men, as he would if he were engaged in activities of the capitalistic class.

Things Need Changing.

"If I were to go to the United States senate," he said, "my purpose there would be to serve the working men and women of the land. It needs no demonstration from me that the senate now does not represent the people of the United States, but the capitalists and the privileged industries. That must be changed. The laboring man must have his voice in the government, and he will have it, whether the men now in control will it or not. They cannot stop it.

"In order to represent the working men, who are the producers of the nation, a United States senator would have to advance their interests in every possible way. This could only be done by allowing them to become owners of the vast plants and properties whereby the things manufactured for the masses ahe produced. This would include not only the so-called public utilities, but also the vast industries which are now owned by private individuals. These must become public property, capitalism must pass from the earth, just as feudalism passed from the earth, and the men and women who are doing the work of the world and producing by their labor the things upon which the world lives, must reap a proportionate share of the rewards which come from this useful labor.

"What is most of all needed in the government of this nation today is a recognition of and a sincere representation of the needs and interests of the working classes.

"The civilization of the future will find the working classes, and hence the whole mass of the people, the masters. Slavery and feudalism passed in the onward march of progress, and industrial slavery will have to pass also. If some one could take that spirit into the senate of the United States, it would be the most healthy breath of fresh air which has ever been liberated there. The socialists have no quarrel with the capitalists or with any of the so-called upper classes. They have filled their place in the progress of civilization, but their function is over and completed, and they must give way to the new order.

A Program for Legislation.

"As to immediate steps on the part of those who would legislate for this ultimate ideal, I might say that if I were sent to the senate I would urge for passage a number of measures which would aid the working people. I would advocate old-age pensions, compensation for employes injured while at work, very strict pure food laws and the like.

"The socialist party will grow in congress, and no one need fear that if it does reach important proportions in the near future it will impede progress. It will be on the side of every progressive, enlightened measure, no matter what party fathers it.

"Private gain won by public labor and at the public expense is at the root of most of our evils today. If I were sent to the senate I should straightway set about telling them down there that they have not done their duty in attempting to right these evils, and I would propose to show them how they could do so by adopting the socialist program."

Senatorial Nominee Cohen then turned back to his job of setting type. As he did so he disclosed a book in his back pocket, a copy of William James' "Pragmatism."

Since John Quit Drinking

By John's Wife

I'm the happiest little woman,
In all this little town;
And my merry laugh and singing,
Takes the place of sigh and frown.
For JOHN HAS QUIT HIS DRINKING
And is like himself once more;
And the world is just a paradise
With such happiness in store!

One day I read some verses—
"Mary's Miracle," the name,
And I said, that's John exactly,
And I'll send and get the same!
So I sent for GOLDEN REMEDY,
(As sly as sly could be)
And I put it in John's supper
And I put it in his tea.

And it didn't taste a little bit;
Had no odor, so, you see—
It was smoothest kind of sailing
For little Doctor Me.
And I watched and prayed and waited,
(And cried some, too, I guess),
And I didn't have the greatest faith,
I'm ashamed now to confess.

And John never thought a minute,
He was being cured of drink,
And soon he's as well as any one,
It makes me cry to think!
Just makes me cry for gladness,
I'm so proud to be his wife—
Since he is cured of drinking,
And leads a nice, new life.

"Since John he quit a-drinking!"
I can't say it times enough!
And hates and loathes a liquor
As he would a poison stuff.
And when I say my prayers at night
As thankful as can be—
I pray for John the most of all—
Then GOLDEN REMEDY.

NEW PROCESS STAINING GLASS.

The art of coloring glass has been lost and refound, jealously guarded and maliciously stolen so many times in the history of civilization that it seems almost impossible to say anything new on glass staining. Yet a process has been discovered for making the stained glass used in windows which is a departure from anything known at the present time. What the Venetians and the Phoenicians knew of it we cannot tell.

The glass first receives its design in mineral colors and the whole is then fired in a heat so intense that the coloring matter and the glass are indissolubly fused. The most attractive feature of this method is that the surface acquires a peculiar pebbled character in the heat, so that when the glass is in place the lights are delightfully soft and mellow.

In making a large window in many shades each panel is separately molded and bent and the sections are assembled in a metal frame.—Chicago Tribune.

Of his Cambridge days a dignitary of the Church of England tells this story. He always wore a white tie, and when he got his fellowship, full of pride, he went to call upon the master of his college. He rang the bell, the door was opened, and he was about to present his card, when the footman, who had run his eye over him, said: "You're too late, young man, I got the place yesterday!"

BIRTHS DECLINE IN UNITED STATES

Rate Faster Than in France Says a Statistician at Cornell.

PRAYS FOR EUGENICS

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 13.—That the decline in the birth rate in the United States is proportionately greater than the decline in France, though the birth rate itself is higher in this country than in France, is one of the conclusions made by Prof. Walter F. Wilcox, a Cornell statistician and expert.

Doctor Wilcox denied, however, that he had ever said that there would be no babies in this country after 2015. What Professor Wilcox does think about the decline in the birth rate compared to the decline in France is that in the nineteenth century there had been a steady and regular decline in the birth rate in both the United States and France and that this decline seemed to be on the whole greater and more marked in the United States than France.

From one of his lectures on the subject a correspondent has obtained the following summary defining his views and the results of his studies of statistics.

"If the decline in the birth rate in the United States should continue unchecked for a century and a half, at the end of that time no births would take place."

But Doctor Wilcox has always pointed out that such a contingency would never arise. Other conditions would come in and change the course of this tendency. No statistician believes that such a result will ever occur in this country or elsewhere, he says.

"It is not the decrease in the birth rate that is disturbing, but rather that the decrease is greatest among the classes whose children would probably inherit most social worth and the capacity for leadership. Thus, figures from Harvard college indicate that each 100 graduates produced in the next generation only 73 sons. The native American population, at least in New England and New York, loses more by deaths than it gains by births.

"These changes are due, in the main, to direct volitional control of the birth rate, a phenomenon of the last half century. It calls for an adjustment of our ethical standards of the new conditions, and more social approval and support of those who serve society by contributing to the numbers and quality of the next generation.

"The new science of eugenics seeks to hasten this change and to show how society may recruit more largely from the best lines of descent. It is too soon yet to decide whether its aims are more than utopian, but its claims deserve serious consideration."

Doctor Wilcox asserts that we live longer than formerly; that the child born in northern United States will live twenty years longer, on the average than the child born in Italy or Egypt twenty centuries ago. But the expectancy of life of a babe born in New York is less by 1.2 years than that of the child born in Berlin and 2.2 years of a London baby.

HAIR HEALTH.

If You Have Scalp or Hair Trouble, Take Advantage of This Offer.

We could noto afford to so strongly endorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it as we do; if we were not certain that it would do all we claim it will. Should our enthusiasm carry us away, and Rexall "93" Hair Tonic not give entire satisfatcion to the users, they would lose faith in us and our statements, and in consequence our business prestige would suffer.

Therefore, when we assure you that if your hair is beginning to unnaturally fall out or if you have any scalp trouble, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will promptly eradicate dandruff, stimulate hair growth and prevent premature baldness, you may rest assured that we know what we are talking about.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is vastly different from other similar preparations. We believe that it will do more than any other human agency toward restoring hair growth and hair health. It is not greasy and will not gum the scalp or hair or cause permanent stain. It is as pleasant to use as pure cold water.

Our faith in Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is so strong that we ask you to try it on our positive guarantee that your money will be cheerfully refunded without question or quibble if it does not do as we claim. Certainly we can offer no stronger argument. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at our stores.—The Rexall Stores. Meyer Bros. Co., Four Drug Stores.

WHITE DAMP AND BLACK DAMP.

White damp is the gas most feared by the miners for its properties render it difficult to detect, inasmuch as it is tasteless, odorless and colorless and when mixed in the proportion of about one part gas to nine parts air is called the "fire damp" and becomes explosive to a degree hard to realize unless one has seen its effects.

Black damp, unlike white damp, is heavier than air, a non-explosive gas which may be detected by its peculiar odor. Again, unlike the other, its effect is to suffocate and extinguish fire.

This gas is so heavy and moves with such a sluggish flow that occasionally when miners have been trapped in a mine following an explosion and have detected the black damp creeping in upon them by its smell they have been able to stop its advance by erecting dams or barricades along the floor, building them higher as the volume of gas increased and keeping the air within their little inclosure comparatively clean by rude improvised fans.

Following an explosion, these two gases become mingled and form a mixed gas possessing all the dreaded qualities of each which is known as "after damp," and it is this mixture of gases that destroys any life that may remain following a mine disaster. —Atlantic Monthly.

CATARRH

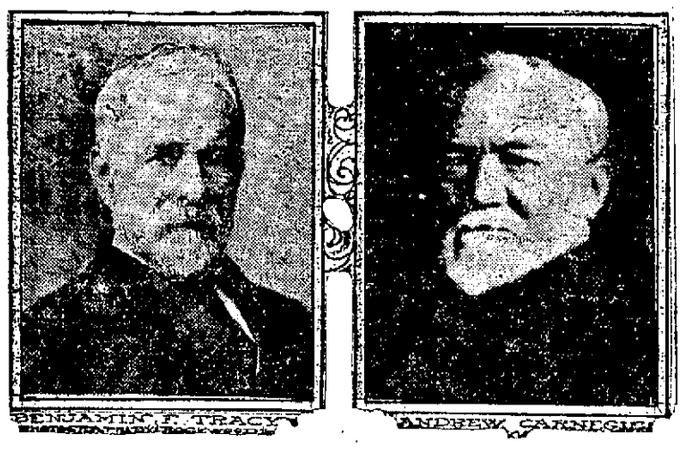
See Dr. Wells,

MR. CARNEGIE UNCOVERS SOME SECRET HISTORY.



New York, Jan. 13.—In a burst of patriotism which electrified those who heard it, Mr. Andrew Carnegie, at the Republican club, answered those persons who have criticised him for making a large part of his fortune in selling armor plate to the government and then turning around and posing as the apostle of universal peace. For the first time he made public how he came to take up the manufacture of armor, and the several hundred listeners who heard him will never forget the scene.

His voice trembling with emotion and tears ready to start from his eyes, Mr. Carnegie declared with all the fervor and emphasis he could command that he had agreed to undertake the manufacture of armor plate only after he had received a message from President Harrison informing him that it was his imperative duty to do so. Then, turning to General Benjamin F. Tracy, secretary of the navy under President Harrison, who was seated on the right and who was the inspiration for the outburst, Mr. Carnegie said with great dramatic force:

"And here sits the man who knows all about it. He sent that message."

General Tracy bowed his head in the affirmative, and this was the signal for a demonstration which has rarely been equalled in the history of the Republican club. Men jumped to their feet, mounted on chairs and cheered themselves hoarse, while the principals in the scene stood side by side acknowledging the tribute.

CRITIC'S SUGGESTIONS.

"Some of the manuscripts that have lately been turned in to me for inspection and criticism," said the retired literary man to his class of ambitious young students, "prompts me to repeat a suggestion that on more than one previous occasion I have made to you, namely, to let your ideas ripen.

"Some of these manuscripts indeed reflect fancies only, and that none too brilliantly. We should ever keep in mind that not every light, pleasing fancy that lodges in the brain is a true idea that will bear immediate transcription; in fact, it may not be worth writing at all.

"One swallow doesn't make a summer nor will a single fleeting fancy suffice for a story, and unless this fancy shall at once upon lodgment begin to throw out glad sprouts, really to take substance, color and form, it is still only a fancy, not a true idea. And further, if having taken form as an idea it is still not yet one that will write itself; don't try to force it; better let it lie, to ripen.

"If a fancy really have within it the germ of something good it will in time germinate; if it be a pleasing fancy only without substance it may fade from the mind entirely or if it have something in it but not enough then it may simply wither, in which case you cast it out as so much lumber of the mind.

"Often it may disturb us to throw away fancies that when they came had delighted us and which we had thought would be good and useful, but we need never regard them as a loss. They may have been mere fancies, intangible, like perfumes pleasing to us, but as impossible to make tangible to others.

"But you may be comforted with this, that these fancies though they may be but fleeting or fading, all help to the enrichment of the mind. Though they may not themselves be of such substance and vigor as to develop into real ideas, they will nourish other fancies; they are never really lost.

"But don't mistake a fancy for an idea, and, young gentlemen, before committing them to paper, let your ideas ripen. In these manuscripts that have lately been submitted to me for consideration I find much green fruit."

SAGE AND SULPHUR

Made Her Look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss
COUNTY OF MONROE } ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my schoolmates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.

BOWSER A LOVER.

Discoveries In Drawer of an Old Bureau.

GUSH LETTERS OF LONG AGO.

Swears They Are Forgeries to Trap Him—Finally Admits They Are Genuine, and Mrs. Bowser Is Surprised With Kisses.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.]

MRS. BOWSER had said that she wanted a little old bureau moved out of a bedroom into the storeroom to make room for a better one, but Mr. Bowser had neglected doing it. The other day he came home an hour ahead of time and found that she was downtown shopping. In wandering about while he waited he remembered that bureau and started in to move it.

A hundred husbands will move a hundred bureaus a hundred feet without doing damage. Mr. Bowser can't move one ten inches without something happening. On this occasion he had only jumped at the article of furniture and given it a yank and a twist when the bottom drawer fell out. He had begun to make some remarks in English when he espied a package of letters tied with a faded blue ribbon. As he took them in his hand he recognized his own handwriting of long ago.

"Durned nonsense," he muttered as he stepped to a back window to chuck them down at a cat on the fence.

But he paused. A small wave of sentiment swept over him. He looked all around in a sheepish way and then sat down on the floor and opened the package. Yes, they were his old love letters, written to Mrs. Bowser during the happy days of courtship. Almost the first thing he read the sentence:

"I know I am not worthy to tie your shoes, but I love you as no other man ever can or will. Oh, my angel, give me encouragement."

"By thunder, but I never wrote that in my life," he exclaimed as he read for the second time. "Mrs. Bowser has forged that to hold over me, and I shall have a settlement with her. Not good enough to tie her shoestrings! Humph!"

He picked up another to read:

"My darling, you have not been out of my thoughts for a moment these last three days. Would that I could see you, if only for an instant. Would that I could feel the pressure of your little hand. You asked me when we last met if I was sure of my feelings toward you. Oh, my angel, but I could die for you! You are more to me than heaven itself!"

Never Wrote Such Twaddle.

"More forgery!" shouted Mr. Bowser as he kicked out and hit the old bureau and made it groan again. "I write such twaddle as that! I sit right down and make such an ass of myself! Never in this old world. It's a bold faced forgery, and Mrs. Bowser shall admit it!"

But he didn't stop reading. The cat sat still on the fence and was a fair mark, but he didn't throw. The third letter began:

"More of 'em—more forgeries! By the bull that bellowed before Bashan there will be a row over this! That woman has sat down in cold blood and malicious determination and perpetrated forgeries that could send her to state prison for life. If I find any more of 'em I may send her there. I might have been callow as a young man, but was I the biggest jackass in America?"

The next letter told about his starting out to pick huckleberries, but getting so lonesome for his angel that he had to turn back. It was signed "Your loving, ever loving and almost heartbroken and thoroughly disconsolate Sammy boy."

Mr. Bowser rose up and kicked that old bureau three times and kicked over a chair and then glared fiercely around and muttered:

"Why, cold blooded murder is no comparison to it! Deliberately puts up a job of forgery to humiliate me to my grave! I go out to pick the huckleberry. I get lonesome and return. I say I am almost heartbroken. I call myself 'Sammy boy.' It is too much, too much. If I don't make Mrs. Bowser's heart ache to its lowest depths then I'm a goat."

It was some little time before he could compose himself to take up another letter. Then he read:

"You say I must not be jealous of you, but I cannot help myself. Yesterday when you were helping your crippled grandfather down the front steps I found myself wanting to murder him. When you patted the dog I wished I was a canine. Such love as mine cannot help but be jealous of the very skeeters that bite you."

Never Wrote He Was Jealous.

"And I wrote that!" said Bowser as he held it out. "I, Samuel Bowser, sat down and took up a pen and indited such infamous balderdash! No, never! It was either another Sammy or else has continued her forgeries. By the starry heavens that woman shall suffer! Burning at the stake is too good for her! Let me be calm while I read more."

The next letter related to a little misunderstanding. The writer had got mad and walked off and said he would never see the recipient again, but he had arrived home to change his mind and write:

"Darling of all darlings, can you, will you, forgive a man who is mad with love for you? Punish, but forgive. Tell me to jump from a precipice a hundred feet high. Tell me to plunge into an ocean a thousand feet deep. Tell me to tackle the hungry lion or wrestle with the ferocious tiger. Send me into the fiery furnace or across the snowy Alps. Even chop out my heart with a dull ax to feed to your cat. But say you forgive me. If you don't I shall commit suicide by swallowing chestnut burs. I have gathered a peck of them for the purpose. From your mad lover."

Mr. Bowser leaned against the wall and panted like a wounded stag who had just finished a run of 150 miles. His sight blurred and his ears buzzed. It was all of two minutes before he could take the center of the stage and hiss:

"I will drag her to the stake and laugh—ha, ha, ha!—while the flames consume her. Malice! Forgery! Perjury! As she enters the house I will confront her, and with my arm outstretched I will say:

"'Woman, your place is not here. It is in the infernal regions. Go! Descend to the pit and your kind!'

"Yes, I will say that, and—and"—

And he picked up the next letter. It started off by saying that he had passed the night under her window to watch and guard his treasure and that along about daylight a bug had crawled into his ear and he must go to a doctor. She must not worry. For her dear sake he would lie out in the rain forty long nights and let forty bugs play with his ears. In signing it he had called himself her little cherub, Sammy Baimy."

"By the fourteen thunders"—

Ah, Yes, He Remembers.

He stopped there. A wave of recollection swept over him. Yes, he had got a bug in his ear in those callow days and had been made partly deaf for many months. That ear troubled him still at times. He must have written that letter and the others. He must be the "Sammy Baimy" boy alluded to. He must be the great American jackass. He tried to deny it to himself, but it was a failure. He groaned as he had to admit it.

"Could I—could I have done it?" he asked himself over and over.

He could and he had.

By and by the letters were carefully retied and placed in the old bureau, the piece of furniture tinkered up and shoved back into place, and then he slipped softly downstairs. He was just in time to meet Mrs. Bowser coming in.

"I hurried, but I'm a little late," she said.

"Oh, that's all right," was the reply.

"You weren't vexed when you found I was out?"

"Not the slightest."

"You are so queer sometimes, you know."

"Yes?"

Would Land Safely.

She spoke severely:

"How can you throw yourself at him like that?"

The younger and more beautiful girl smiled.

Rub Ezo on Feet

And All Soreness and Burning Will Fade Away as If My Magic.

Ezo for the feet; nothing like it in this wide world. It's a purified ointment, this Ezo that everybody is talking about, and when you rub it on the feet it penetrates into the pores, and quickly drives out the cause of painful inflammation.

Meyer Bros. Co., the reliable druggists, are selling a whole lot of Ezo to people who must have strong feet that will support a vigorous body.

Get Ezo for weary, tender, burning feet. Get it to take out the agony from those painful corns and bunions. Use it today and have good feet tomorrow.

Besides Ezo for the feet we also make EZO REFINED OINTMENT, an unfailing remedy for chapped hands and face; for a delightful massage; for use after shaving; for red nose and for all diseases of the skin.

The price of Ezo Refined Ointment is 50 cents a jar but a trial treatment will be sent to any address on receipt of 4 cents in stamps to cover mailing. Ezo Chemical Co., Rochester, N. Y.

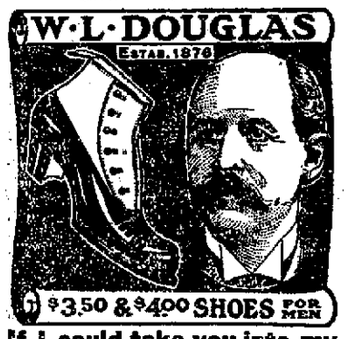
Remarkable Growth Not a Surprise

THE REASON IS THAT MERIT WILL INVARIABLY WIN OUT.

The remarkable growth of the Root Juice Medicine company, of Fort Wayne, Ind., is not a surprise to the many thousands of people that have bought and used the wonderful Root Juice Compound, as merit will invariably win out. The great medicine has permanently cured so many people all over the country that it is now hard to find some one who does not know of one or more remarkable cures resulting from the use of the discovery. In this locality scores of people have tested the merits of the remedy and are praising it so highly to their friends that it is no wonder the large sales of Root Juice at Bradley Bros.' drug store do not diminish, but rather keep on the increase. It is generally believed the reason the remedy makes so many remarkable cures is because of its wonderful soothing, healing and tonic properties, which seem to have a very quick and direct effect on the stomach, bowels, bladder, liver and kidneys. Scores of home people, whose names are freely given at the drug store, have called to tell of the remedy curing them of nervousness, rheumatism, kidney troubles, bloating, belching, heartburn and other symptoms of bad digestion.



If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, the superior workmanship and the high grade leathers used, you would then understand why Dollar for Dollar I Guarantee My Shoes to hold their shape, look and fit better and wear longer than any other $3.50 or $4.00 shoes you can buy. Do you realize that my shoes have been the standard for over thirty years; that I make and sell more $3.50 and $4.00 shoes than any other manufacturer in the United States? Quality counts. It has made my shoes a household word everywhere. W. L. Douglas, President W. L. Douglas Shoe Co.

VIENNESE ACTRESS CAPTURES NEW YORK

Thorough Training at Mannheim Conservatory Gives Miss Emmy Wehlen Command Over Every Branch of Dramatic Art—Comic Opera Prima Donna Who Has Played in Tragedy and Farce.

THREE CHARACTERISTIC PORTRAIT STUDIES OF MISS EMMY WEHLEN

New York, Jan. 10.—Since Miss Emmy Wehlen, at the Casino, repeated the success in New York that she had already gained in Berlin and London, the pretty little singing actress has been one of the busiest women in the profession.

Seek her at her hotel, even by appointment, and you will be told that a rehearsal has suddenly been called and Miss Wehlen is on the stage of the Casino. Go there and you will discover that the company had been gathered that some cuts may be made in "Marriage a la Carte." But there is no need to cut Miss Wehlen's role. She has been released.

Where is she, then?

"She is at the photographer's," answers the imperturbable dragon at the stage door in a voice which implies that the ways of a comic opera prima donna are past finding out.

A few minutes later you are in Mr. Bang's studio, only to learn that Miss Wehlen should have been there at noon and did not arrive until half-past two o'clock. The winter afternoon is waning. Every moment is precious. Neither Mr. Bangs nor Miss Wehlen can be disturbed in the arduous task of perpetuating the beauty of the little Viennese by means of the camera.

Then the friendly aid of Mr. McLellan, who wrote the comedy, is invoked, and in another moment Miss Wehlen's maid ushers you into her presence.

She is sitting in the full glare of a pitiless southern light that streams upon her, uncurtained, through a great skylight. Only sweet and twenty would dare to be seen under that light, and Miss Wehlen comes triumphant through the ordeal. She is as pretty in the uncompromising daylight as she is in the manipulated illumination of the stage.

"Oh, no, indeed," answers Miss Wehlen, "my people have been Austrian ever since—well ever since there have been Austrians."

And Miss Wehlen's gesture implies that is nearly as long ago as the flood and Noah.

"Vienna was my native city," she continued, "but I was trained for the stage at the Conservatory of Mannheim. There one is taught all things necessary for the stage—singing, dancing, fencing and all the rest. Then one is ready for anything—comedy, tragedy, opera, concert. But it is worth while in after years.

Debut at Mannheim.

"Then came my debut at Mannheim and my subsequent engagement at Berlin, where everyone was so kind to me. The role I remember most vividly was in a German tragedy by Raimond, 'The Spendthrift' it was called. Not the play with the same title that you have had here.

"This spendthrift was a prodigal whom Gerardy, the tragedian, impersonated. I was a supernatural little being who came to him as his good genius in the guise of a peasant girl. Of course, he falls in love with me."

Miss Wehlen says this in the most matter of fact way. Evidently everybody falls in love with her. It is to be taken for granted.

"Well, I have to tell him that we cannot marry, because I am not a mortal. He is heartbroken. He loads me with gifts and I go away. Then when he is a broken old man with all his money gone, his friends faithless and his heart desolate, I come back and return all the gifts he so generously gave me. You see, it is what you call 'symbolic,' is it not?

Here the photographer intervenes. Click goes the camera, and Miss Wehlen has been caught in an unconscious attitude while absorbed in her story of the Spendthrift.

Versatile on German Stage.

"How versatile one must be on the German stage is shown in this incident," she went on. "Herr Possart saw me one night in a classic play. The next morning he watched me at rehearsal in a light musical play—a very frothy little role.

"'Who is this girl?' asked the great actor. 'I have never seen her before.' At first he could not believe that I was the girl who had played in Lessing's drama the night before. He is a very kindly man, Herr Possart, and is always interested in younger actors in the theater."

Sometimes Miss Wehlen's English, which is a comparatively recent acquisition, takes a delicious comic turn.

"I first heard Emmy Destinn singing in Mannheim. It was in 'Carmen.' So wonderful was Miss Destinn that she made me sad for the cigarette girl. She put out my eyes with tears!"

It has a comic side but there is no doubt of the earnestness and sincerity of Miss Wehlen's tribute.

Miss Destinn's New Role.

"Miss Destinn crossed on the steamer with me. She is charming. At that time she knew that she was to appear as the heroine of Puccini's new opera, but I doubt if she had studied a line of it. Yet they tell me the role is as difficult as Brunnhilde.

"No, I have not heard 'The Girl of the Golden West.' I have heard nothing over here as yet. You see, I have been to busy to go to the theatre as a spectator.

"And I have not seen 'The Blue Bird' yet! It is too bad! In London I was busy in 'The Merry Widow' and 'The Dollar Princess' and in New York I am busy with 'Marriage a la Carte.' But some day I shall see it.

"They are going to produce Maeterlinck's fairy play this season at the Deutches theater in Berlin. Ah, there is a theatre! Everything is done with such perfection as exists nowhere else in the world. In the big theatre the spectacular plays and the classics are given. There is also a smaller theatre, where intimate little comedies are given. This is called the Kammerspielhaus.

"What does the name mean? Oh, the Cupboard theatre, I suppose you would call it in English. At any rate it means something cosy and confidential."

A change of costume makes a break in the talk. When Miss Wehlen returns she has changed a daring blue and green gown for something gauzy and clinging, in lavender, which is more suggestive of Paris than Vienna.

Again the camera clicks in quick succession, and more pictures are taken. Miss Wehlen looks demurely at the photographer.

"I went to a throat specialist for my cold yesterday. He is an amateur photographer, and begged for a sitting. We had such a time getting the lights properly arranged. Finally he called in the maid to hold a silver tray near me to get the right effects."

Her Spirited Imitation.

Miss Wehlen imitated the clumsy manner of the maid as she held an imaginary tray at various angles with delicious comedy. Again she glanced at the photographer.

"He behaved almost like a professional photographer," she said.

"Must have been pretty awful," said the photographer.

"Oh, well, in America you do these things very nicely," said the actress. "I used to anticipate sitting for a photograph as cheerfully as I contemplated a visit to the dentist. But here, with the bright American sunshine and the quick manipulation, it is a pleasure."

Miss Wehlen looks as if many things in life were a pleasure for her. She smiles easily, and with evident alacrity changed her costumes and her poses as enthusiastically as if she had not been through a trying day. And when it was all over, and she turned to say good-bye, her last words were in accord with her winning smile:

"I was a Berliner in Berlin and a Londoner in London. Now I am in New York and I want to be a New Yorker."

And she was gone.

ROBERT GILBERT WELSH.

The Test.

The youngest daughter of the house, aged six, was discovered in tears. Her mother questioned her. She attempted no concealment. She was quite frank about it. "God doesn't love me," she said. "Why, what do you mean?" said her mother. "God loves everybody." "Not me," she replied, with gloomy certainty. "I tried him with a daisy."—London Globe.

RHEUMATISM
PAINFUL & DANGEROUS

Rheumatism is due to a diseased condition of the blood cells and corpuscles, brought about by an excess of uric acid in the circulation. It is not only a very painful disease but an extremely dangerous trouble. The briny, acrid state of the blood gradually forms a coating over the muscles, and by depositing a cement-like substance in the joints frequently terminates fatally, or leaves its victim a hopeless cripple. It is natural to "doctor" the spot that hurts, and it is quite right to use liniments, hot applications, etc., to get temporary relief from a painful joint or swollen tendon; but Rheumatism is not a skin disease, and such things, when depended on alone make one careless, and the disease gets a firmer hold on the blood. S. S. S. cures the disease because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation, and removes every particle of the irritating uric acid, builds up the blood, makes it rich and oily, and in this way prepares it for the proper nourishment of all joints, muscles, nerves and cones. If you have Rheumatism, get the uric acid out of the blood by taking S. S. S., a purely vegetable medicine, and enjoy freedom from its misery. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

Motor Chat Among the Ancients.

"That old chap's a-hittin' her up at a high old rate of speed!" he said, gazing at the distant vehicle. "Any of you fellers happen to ketch his number?"

"Nothin' doin'," murmured the crowd.

"Have ye got any idee who it wuz?" asked the constable.

"Yes," replied a bystander. "It was old man Elisha."

"Waal, I wanter know!" ejaculated the constable. "What's this country comin' to when our very best folks 'll go an' v'late the speed laws like that!"—Harper's Weekly.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 13.—Moisture southwest and heavier shipments from the Argentine republic caused further weakness today in the wheat market here. Liverpool reported a continuance of free offerings of Buenos Ayres cargoes. Some of the big buyers yesterday were sellers this morning and pit sentiment had quite a bearish turn. Opening prices were unchanged to ¼@¼c higher. May started at $1.01⅝ to $1.01¾@1.01⅞, a shade off to ¼c up and declined to 1.01¼.

Everybody seems to have a little corn for sale. Shorts were a little more aggressive on account of the huge hedging sales the last few days. May opened a sixteenth to ⅛@¼c down at 50⅜c to 50¼c and dropped to 50c flat.

Oats eased off under fair sales by a prominent local speculator. May started a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 34⅞c to 35c and slip down to 34⅝@34⅞c.

Provision dealers, though cautious about selling much were plainly in favor of a paring of prices. First sales were 5c cheaper to 7½c up, with May options at $9.05 for pork; $10.07½ to $10.10 for lard and $10.05 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Jan. 13.—There were some fairly wide openings in initial trades today. United States Steel opened with a block of seven thousand shares from 74⅛ to 75, as against yesterday's closing price of 74½. Other large lots of the same stock sent the price up to 75⅜. Reading showed again of 1 point on a block of 2,500 shares and Baltimore & Ohio a gain of 1¼ points. The weakest feature was St. Louis Southwestern, which declined 1 point.

The strength displayed at the opening was reinforced by a confident buying movement and prices continued to advance throughout the list. The movement caused a reversal of position by some traders who had been on the short side and covering of their contracts aided in the rise.

Among conspicuous gains were Canadian Pacific and the Southern Railway preferred stocks 2 points, American Beet Sugar 1¼ and Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific, St. Paul, Louisville & Nashville, Lehigh Valley, Denver & Rio Grande, Kansas & Texas, Amalgamated Copper and American Car & Business became dull on the advance and prices were maintained at the best.

Material gains were well held and there was an absence of selling pressure on advances. Denial of reports that new financing was soon to be undertaken by the Harriman lines and New York Central strengthened the list. Definite announcement that the Gould interests were to relinquish active management of the Missouri Pacific was accompanied by a further substantial advance in that stock. London was reported to be a fairly large purchaser. Canadian Pacific extended its rise to 207¾, placing it 3¼ above where it left off yesterday and making its gain on the week about 10 points. Bonds were firm.

Although the market halted when business intervened it did not relapse more than a trivial fraction and a few stocks continued to go up, notably Missouri Pacific, which touched 49¾ and 208¾, respectively. All of the Gould stocks showed considerable strength, the Denver & Rio Grande stocks rising 1 to 2 points. Wabash preferred 1 and the others large fractions.

Bullish enthusiasm was accentuated when the compilation of the weekly currency movement was published which indicated a probable cash gain of $20,000,000 from the interior and sub-treasury operation. Canadian Pacific retained its supremacy in the upward movement, touching 209. Its affiliated stocks, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie and Wisconsin Central were up 3 points, while the list otherwise showed gains of between 1 and 2 points.

The market closed strong. Reading was the dominant feature of the final hour, advancing to 156¼ on more than a full recovery of its 3 per cent semi-annual dividend. There were no known developments in connection with this movement. Elsewhere the rise proceeded in a more orderly fashion, with the demand steadily broadening. Final prices were the best and showed advances of 1 to 3 points all around.

THIN FOLKS MADE PLUMP.

If you are thin, it is because the food you eat is not assimilated and passes through the system without building up the flesh and tissue as it should.

You can readily get plump and rosy by using Samose, a tissue forming food, which when taken with the meals, immediately becomes a flesh building and life giving element in the blood.

Meyer Bros. Co. are introducing Samose to their customers and recommend it highly, and give the best proof of their belief that Samose will do all that is claimed for it by offering to refund the money if it fails to increase the weight and restore good health.

Carl M. White, 'cello, and Will Harris, flute, late of the Majestic hotel orchestra at Hot Springs, Ark., are new players added to the Alt Heidelberg hotel orchestra.
